As you can see, the returns from the Canadian stock market have not been substantially different from those in the United States.

Can you tell by looking at the U.S. stock market data presented in Figure 2.1 whether the real rate of return on stocks is more variable in the period 1926–1940 or in the period 1941–1955? Which period was more variable for the real rate of return on bonds? Why do you think there is a difference between the variability of returns on stocks and bonds?

Stocks of small companies have historically been more risky than stocks of large companies. Investors in small-company stocks demand higher returns than investors in large-company stocks. Figure 2.2 shows the historical returns on portfolios of small-company stocks and large-company stocks in the U.S. stock market during the 1926–1994 period. As you can see, the difference between the returns on small-company stocks and large-company stocks is very substantial. For example, a dollar invested in small-company stocks at the beginning of 1926 grew to $2,633 by the end of 1994. However, the same dollar invested in large-company stocks grew to only $676 over the same period.

In addition to stocks and bonds, Canadian investors can also invest in other financial assets, such as gold and real estate. The investment bank Wood Gundy Inc. publishes annually the performance of stocks, bonds, treasury bills, gold, and real estate in Canada. Figure 2.3 shows the performance of these investments in Canadian dollars for the period 1956–1994. Over this period, gold was the best performing investment, followed by common stocks. Real estate provided the lowest return.

LEGISLATIVE & REGULATORY STRATEGY

No other firm is as effective at achieving winning policy outcomes for its clients. We know the issues inside and out. We have decades of experience in government, from the halls of Congress to the upper echelons of Democratic and Republican administrations. We fundamentally understand today's decision makers and what drives them.

General Instructions

Section references are to the Internal Revenue Code unless otherwise noted.

Purpose of Form

A person who is required to file an information return with the IRS must obtain your correct taxpayer identification number (TIN) to report, for example, income paid to you, real estate transactions, mortgage interest you paid, acquisition or abandonment of secured property, cancellation of debt, or contributions you made to an IRA.

Use Form W-9 only if you are a U.S. person (including a resident alien), to provide your correct TIN to the person requesting it (the requester) and, when applicable, to:

1. Certify that the TIN you are giving is correct (or you are waiting for a number to be issued),
2. Certify that you are not subject to backup withholding, or
3. Claim exemption from backup withholding if you are a U.S. exempt payee. If applicable, you are also certifying that as a U.S. person, your allocable share of any partnership income from a U.S. trade or business is not subject to the withholding tax on foreign partners' share of effectively connected income.

Note: If a requester gives you a form other than Form W-9 to request your TIN, you must use the requester's form if it is substantially similar to this Form W-9.

Definition of a U.S. person. For federal tax purposes, you are considered a U.S. person if you are:

- An individual who is a U.S. citizen or U.S. resident alien,
- A partnership, corporation, company, or association created or organized in the United States or under the laws of the United States,
- An estate (other than a foreign estate), or
- A domestic trust (as defined in Regulations section 301.7701-7).

Special rules for partnerships. Partnerships that conduct a trade or business in the United States are generally required to pay a withholding tax on any foreign partners' share of income from such business. Further, in certain cases where a Form W-9 has not been received, a partnership is required to presume that a partner is a foreign person, and pay the withholding tax. Therefore, if you are a U.S. person that is a partner in a partnership conducting a trade or business in the United States, provide Form W-9 to the partnership to establish your U.S. status and avoid withholding on your share of partnership income.

(the "O'Connor & Associates (hereinafter referred to as "O'Connor") a contingency fee equal to 50% of your Estimated Tax Savings achieved by O'Connor for the protested tax year for a property tax appeal services. "Estimated Tax Savings" for a given protested tax year are defined as follows: subtract your property's final assessed value for that year from its stated assessed value, then multiply the difference by the previous year's total tax rate. If O'Connor has records in its files demonstrating you have an over sixty-five exemption, or upon notice from you, O'Connor will reduce its contingency fee for all future services for that property to 25% of your Estimated Tax Savings as defined above. YOU ACKNOWLEDGE AND UNDERSTAND THE TAX SAVINGS AND FEE CALCULATIONS FOR PRIOR, CURRENT AND FUTURE YEARS ARE CALCULATED WITHOUT REGARD TO AGRICULTURAL EXEMPTIONS, HOMESTEAD EXEMPTIONS, OVER 65 EXEMPTIONS TIMBER EXEMPTIONS, WILDLIFE EXEMPTIONS OR ANY OTHER EXEMPTIONS

This agreement supersedes all prior agreements between you and O'Connor and will remain in effect until canceled by either party with a 30-day prior written notice.

The Pre-Law Advising Program at Kalamazoo College

The Pre-Law Orientation at Kalamazoo College is an advising program that guides and supports students in organizing their self-constructed undergraduate education to optimize placement and success within law school. The Four Pillars of the Liberal Arts Pre-Law Orientation are as follows:

1. MAJOR Student chooses any field of study with in the liberal arts curriculum
2. STUDY OF LAW INTERDISCIPLINARY CLUSTER Student matriculates in six courses selected from the interdisciplinary Study of Law Cluster of Courses
3. PARTICIPATION IN THE LAW GUILD Student actively participates in Law Guild events
4. MEMBERSHIP IN THE PRE-LAW SOCIETY STUDENT ORGANIZATION Student becomes an active member of the student-sponsored Pre-Law Society

Kalamazoo College offers a wide variety of courses to help students understand, prepare for, and succeed within the legal profession. K also hosts various invited speakers, Guild events, Pre-Law Society activities, and reading groups to support students in their preparation for law school. Law schools do not require – and some actively discourage – any established pre-law curriculum specialized in preliminary legal training. Instead, law schools look to the type of flexible and intensive instruction characteristic of the liberal arts as an ideal way of gaining the various skills, forms of knowledge, personal maturity, and interactive competencies that are necessary for excelling in a JD program and afterwards practicing in the legal field. In K's pre-law orientation we consequently do not require that you take any specific set of courses. Instead we advise you take courses that truly interest you, investigate potential majors and minors, explore courses from K's wide range of disciplines, and in turn fashion, build a well-most valued well-rounded and liberal arts experience. Law school focus less upon specific undergraduate degrees than upon excellence in any given area. What is crucial for law school admissions officers are the following basic skills sets.

- Critical Analytic Reading
- Argumentative Writing
- Logically Structured Persuasive Discourse and Debate
- Confident Self-presentation and Respectful Interaction
- Information Technology Research Capabilities

Moreover, law schools look not only for (1) maturity of person, (2) integrity of character, (3) definitiveness of purpose, and but also to (4) the worldly experiences and ethical commitments of prospective students – all for the purpose of identifying individuals with the intellect, character, talent, and training to succeed in the demanding field of law.

In addition to promoting the general skills and worldly experiences listed above, K also offers specific courses specialized in some fashion or another to the subject matter of the law. See the Study of Law Courses below. These courses analyze the legal system in the large: social, cultural, and political contexts in which law plays such an important Presumably you want to test your fax machine by sending a fax from it and receiving a fax with it. Here's how to do both.

To test the send functionality of your fax machine, send a one-page fax to 1-888-877-1655 (a toll-free number in the United States.) When it's finished transmitting, point your web browser to Fax.Zen — it's a fun web site that displays whatever is faxed to that number. Within a minute, your fax should appear on the site. Click the thumbnail to see a large version.

To test the receive functionality of your fax machine, point your web browser to FaxZero: this site lets you send faxes for free to anywhere in the United States and Canada. Within a few minutes, your fax machine should ring — hopefully, it will automatically answer and spit out the test fax.

ENERGY STAR Qualified Homes 2011
Savings & Cost Estimate Summary

The savings and incremental costs of implementing the ENERGY STAR Qualified Homes 2011 guidelines will vary for each individual home, dependent on variables such as baseline construction practices, geographic location, house design, and various solution steps. For example, builders may expend no or much lower incremental costs where they are already using above code windows or equipment efficiencies complying with code-required high-quality insulation installation not currently enforced, or do not install appliances or ceiling fans within their homes.

As a means of developing representative savings and costs, EPA developed typical energy homes across hot, mixed and cold climates. The baseline configurations were roughly aligned with the 2006 IECC as currently enforced and the improved homes were aligned with the requirements of the prescriptive path of the 2011 guidelines, referred to as the ENERGY STAR Reference Design.

Because not all of the features proposed for the 2011 guidelines are currently recognized or credited within RESNET's current implementation of the HERS guidelines (e.g., efficient water distribution systems), the real-world energy savings for each home was estimated through a two-step process.

First, each of the homes was modeled in REM/Rate software with all of the features recognized by RESNET's HERS guidelines and able to be entered into the software program.

Then, Improvement Factors were developed to account for the impacts of the quality control checklists of the ENERGY STAR 2011 guidelines (i.e., Thermal Bypass Inspection, Quality Framing, HVAC Quality Installation, Indoor Air Quality, Water-Managed Construction) and the hot water efficiency measures. Some of these factors were calculated from the results of additional parametric REM/Rate simulations with and without advanced conservation features (e.g., slightly improved duct efficiency, fewer framing factors) and some were developed from engineering analyses external to REM/Rate (e.g., water conservation measures).

The Improvement Factors were used to modify the original REM/Rate energy load, consumption and cost outputs to final real-world savings estimates.

Incremental costs were estimated for each of the features required by the ENERGY STAR Reference Design as applied to each of the six homes. Costs were then summed across all features and compared to the costs of the current 2006 ENERGY STAR guidelines.

The following pages contain a summary of the incremental costs for each home, the savings for each home and a supporting savings and cost document for each of the six checklists and one for the required hot water efficiency measures.

How to Get Rid of Clogged Pores on the Face

By an eHow Contributor

Clogged pores on the face can make your skin look uneven, dirty and dull. While you can't alter the size of your pores, you can unclog them, making them appear smaller. A regular skincare regime is imperative to keep pores clean and free from debris, excess oil and bacteria. Various treatments will help you pull gunk out of your pores.

Difficulty: Moderate

Instructions

Things You'll Need

- Salicylic acid cleanser
- Toner
- Facial scrub
- Mask
- Water-based makeup
- Pore treatment strips

1 Cleanse your skin twice daily. You must remove excess oil, makeup, sweat and dirt from your skin. If you don't, they will sink into your pores and stay there. Choose a cleanser that contains salicylic acid, as it encourages skin cell turnover, helping to clear clogged pores.

2 Place toner on a cotton ball and apply it to your skin. Since toner helps balance your skin's oil levels, it'll prevent excess oil from clogging your pores. For a natural approach, you can use tea tree oil as a toner.

3 Exfoliate your skin, using a facial scrub. Exfoliation removes dead skin cells from the surface of the skin. If you don't remove these cells, they can clog your pores. For best results, exfoliate 2 to 3 times weekly.

4 Use a deep-cleaning mask on your skin weekly. Masks provide your pores with an intense cleaning process, pulling in particles and grime from deep within them to the

How Can I Test My Fax Machine?

I just hooked up a new fax machine and I'd like to test it just to make sure it works. How can I do that?

Presumably you want to test your fax machine by sending a fax from it and receiving a fax with it. Here's how to do both:

To test the send functionality of your fax machine, send a one-page fax to 1-888-877-1655 (a toll-free number in the United States.) When it's finished transmitting, point your web browser to Fax Toy — it's a fun web site that displays whatever is faxed to that number. Within a minute, your fax should appear on the site. Click the thumbnail to see a large version.

To test the receive functionality of your fax machine, point your web browser to FaxZero. this site lets you send faxes for free to anywhere in the United States and Canada. Within a few minutes, your fax machine should ring — hopefully it will automatically answer and spit out the test fax.

TESTING

Section 10 Installing the Child Restraint Forward-Facing In Your Vehicle

⚠WARNING! DEATH or SERIOUS INJURY can occur

If your vehicle has lower anchors, the LATCH system can be used. Your vehicle may also have a top tether anchorage located behind the vehicle seat. Refer to your vehicle owner's manual to determine if lower anchors and top tether anchors are available and for which seating positions. If lower anchors are not available the vehicle seat belt must be used. The top tether can be used with the vehicle seat belt or LATCH

Additionally, LATCH and top tether anchors are designed to a maximum limit which can vary by vehicle. Due to this variation, RECARO requires use of the vehicle seat belt for any child weighing more than 48 lbs (20.4 kg).

Your vehicle will also have a top tether anchorage located behind the vehicle seat. Refer to your vehicle owner's manual if it is difficult to find. This can also vary by vehicle. Do NOT use a cargo tie down for the top tether attachment.

NOTE: The child restraint seat is shipped with the LATCH strap installed in the forward-facing mode. If you are switching from rear-facing, you will need to reroute the LATCH strap.

Use ONLY the fully up-right position when installed forward-facing.

Author Summary

The obligate intracellular bacteria Chlamydia trachomatis is a common sexually transmitted pathogen and the leading cause of preventable infectious blindness worldwide. Chlamydia accepts host cells by secreting virulence factors directly into target cells through a multi-protein complex termed a type III secretion system or "injectisome". The lack of a system for molecular genetic manipulation in these pathogens has hindered our understanding of how the Chlamydia injectisome is assembled and how secreted factors are recognized and translocated. In this study, a yeast two-hybrid approach was used to identify networks of Chlamydia proteins that interact with components of the secretion apparatus. Using conserved structural components predicted to be at the base of the injectisome, interacted with multiple proteins, including a new chaperone that binds to and modulates the activity of the secreted effector protein Tarp. Our findings provide insight into the assembly of the Chlamydia injectisome and the recognition of secreted effector proteins.

[49] (Fig. 1A). In addition, we utilized operons encode proteins of the T3S-related flagellar export machinery based on protein-protein interactions defined among homologous components (Table 1) in other bacterial pathogens. The chlamydial injectisome has been proposed to have an architecture as outlined in Fig. 1B [5,6].

To identify additional injectisome components, regulators, secretion chaperones and their respective cargo, we screened chlamydial proteins for their ability to interact with core components of the injectisome by Y2H analysis. We applied 108 Chlamydia-specific, conserved hypothetical ORFs and genes encoding putative effectors and injectisome components by PCR and cloned them into Y2H vectors to generate carboxyl-terminal fusions to the DNA-binding domain (DBD) or Activator Domain (AD) of the yeast transcription factor Gal4, respectively (Table S1). For previous systematic large bacterial-wide analyses which used by

Tax Preparers' Due Diligence Requirements for EITC

Paid preparers who file EITC returns or claims for refunds for clients must meet four due diligence requirements. Those who fail to do so can be assessed a $500 penalty for each failure.

1) Complete and file with taxpayer's return Form 8867, Paid Preparer's Earned Income Credit Checklist.

2) Fill out the appropriate EIC worksheet found in the Form 1040, 1040A, or 1040EZ instructions or in Publication 596, or your own equivalent form.

3) You must have no knowledge that any of the information used to determine the taxpayer's eligibility for the credit or the credit amount is incorrect.

4) Retain Form 8867 and the EIC worksheets for your own records or audit, and a record of how, when, and from whom the information used to prepare the form and worksheet(s) was obtained. You must keep these documents for three years from June 30 following the date the return or claim for refund was presented to the taxpayer for signature.

A Short Story For Engineers (2)

The project followed the usual process: budget and project sponsor allocated, RFP, third-parties selected, and six months (and $8 million) later they had a fantastic solution - on time, on budget, high quality and everyone in the project had a great time. They solved the problem by using high-tech precision scales that would sound a bell and flash lights whenever a toothpaste box would weigh less than it should. The line would stop, someone would walk over and yank the defective box out of it, pressing another button when done to re-start the line.

A while later, the CEO decides to have a look at the ROI of the project: amazing results! No empty boxes ever shipped out of the factory after the scales were put in place. Very few customer complaints, and they were gaining market share. "That's some money well spent!" - he says, before looking closely at the other statistics in the report.

Ten things we know to be true

"The perfect search engine," says co-founder Larry Page, "would understand exactly what you mean and give back exactly what you want." When Google began, you would have been pleasantly surprised to enter a search query and immediately find the right answer. Google became successful precisely because we were better and faster at finding the right answer than other search engines at the time.

But technology has come a long way since then, and the face of the web has changed. Recognizing that search is a problem that will never be solved, we continue to push the limits of existing technology to provide a fast, accurate and easy-to-use service that anyone seeking information can access, whether they're at a desk in Boston or on a phone in Bangkok. We've also taken the lessons we've learned from search to tackle even more challenges.

As we keep looking towards the future, these core principles guide our actions.

> We first wrote these "10 things" several years ago. From time to time we revisit this list to see if it still holds true. We hope it does—and you can hold us to that. (September 2009)

1. Focus on the user and all else will follow.
   Since the beginning, we've focused on providing the best user experience possible. Whether we're designing a new Internet browser or a new tweak to the look of the homepage, we take great care to ensure that they will ultimately serve you, rather than our own internal goal or bottom line. Our homepage interface is clear and simple, and pages load instantly. Placement in search results is never sold to anyone, and advertising is not only clearly marked as such, it offers relevant content and is not distracting. And when we build new tools and applications, we believe they should work so well you don't have to consider how they might have been designed differently.

2. It's best to do one thing really, really well.
   We do search. With one of the world's largest research groups focused exclusively on solving search problems, we know what we do well, and how we could do it better. Through continued iteration on difficult problems, we've been able to solve complex issues and provide continuous improvements to a service that already makes finding information a fast and seamless experience for millions of people. Our dedication to improving search helps us

Test your fax machine

Before clicking the fax start button, use caution that the destination fax machine is valid. Most internal company fax machines prompt you from the dialing a fax, dialing valid area, and directory, or call primary business.

NOTE: If you encounter troubleshooting a fax issue, it is good practice to test the destination fax machine to verify there is not a problem with the destination fax machine. If you are unable to send a fax to the destination fax machine, you will be unable to receive a fax.

Where your fax [illegible] the HP Fax Test Fax [illegible] number, confirming that you received your fax. This verifies that you can send and receive a fax with your fax machine.

If you do not receive a return fax within 5-7 minutes, there may be a problem with the dialer in your fax machine, phone line, your phone/fax area code, or phone line's proper dialing and configuration.

NOTE: The most common cause of failure is dialing the number of the fax machine. If the fax machine does not match the number of the recipient fax machine, or the fax machine contains the full 10-digit telephone number of the fax machine, including the area code.

Hello!

1 Iterators

1.1 What Are Iterators? Why Use Them?

Let's start with an example we know from our own experience. Python file objects provide a method `readline()` that reads a single line from the file. Here's a function that prints all lines in a file:

def print_lines(file_name):
    f = open(file_name)
    line = f.readline()
    while line:
        print line,
        line = f.readline()
    f.close()

Suppose we wish to print only the first five lines of the file. We could use

def print_five_lines(file_name):
    f = open(file_name)
    for i in range(5):
        line = f.readline()
        print line,
    f.close()

But if the same result can be obtained with

def print_five_lines(file_name):
    f = open(file_name)
    for i in range(5):
        print f.readline(),
    f.close()

The second method has two advantages:

(a) it is simpler and more elegant

(b) it does not read the entire file into memory, which is wasteful and may even be impossible.

The point (b) is made clear if we consider that a file might be a huge file that does not fit in memory. Indeed, it might even be an infinite stream of data, such as the output of a long-running process. Or it might be a stream of data that is being produced slowly, for example by a person typing at a keyboard. In all these cases, it is important to read the file one piece at a time.

Point (a) becomes even clearer if we take the functional programming approach. The code

print_lines = lambda file_name: map(sys.stdout.write, open(file_name).readlines())

is not very different from

Point (b) would be of major significance if the file were really large. The first method above would have the entire file in memory, which is undesirable. Here we read just one line of the file at a time. Of course, we also could have done this by calling `readline()` repeatedly, but it is so simple and elegantly done with `for` loops.

To make reading files a truly useful operation, we must be able to read not only from files but from any source of data that can be viewed as a sequence of lines. Let's look at the concept more generally.

Consider that a Python `for` statement is essentially like an `if` statement, but instead of executing the body once if the condition is true, it executes the body once for each element of a sequence, in order. Sequences are a fundamental concept in Python, and there are many types of sequences. Lists are the most obvious example, but strings, tuples, and even files can be viewed as sequences. Sequence operations are so powerful that even if a data structure is not a sequence, it is often useful to define methods that turn it into a sequence, or at least into something that can be used in a `for` statement. For example, dictionaries have a method `keys()` that returns a list of all the keys in the dictionary, so that you can write `for key in dictionary.keys(): ...`. Files have a method `readlines()` that returns a list of all the lines in the file, so that you can write `for line in file.readlines(): ...`.

In this context, an iterator looks like a sequence, which you can `for` over, but with some major differences:

- `readline()` returns a line from the file each time it is called, not a list of all the lines. Each line is read only when it is needed.

Here's a list of general building codes you can use to check with your local codes department.

- ✔ Round hand rails must have a minimum width of 1 1/4 and a maximum of 2 inches in diameter.

Rectangular shaped handrails must measure between 4 inches and 6 25 inches

Oblong handrails must measure no more than 2 1/4 inches across the widest part of the rail.

- ✔ Must be able to bear at least 200 pounds of weight. This applies to your entire railing system to include the stair hand rails

- ✔ Must be at least 30 inches but not more than 37 inches to the top of the handrail as measured from vertically from the nose(front)of the stair tread. NOTE: In Nashville TN, the building code is a "grip able" handrail that is not less than 34 inches and not more than 38 inches.

- ✔ Stairways with four or more risers or steps that are more than 30 inches in height must have at least one handrail. We recommend you install hand rails no matter how many steps you have.

- ✔ A minimum of 1 ½ inches is usually required between the handrail and another object like a post or wall.

- ✔ Handrails should be continuous for the full length of the stairs.

Windows® Fax and Scan

One place to scan and fax your documents

FAX: You can send and receive faxed documents on your computer without using a fax machine. You can also print, e-mail, or save a copy of your faxes.

To get started:

1. Connect a phone line to your computer.

   If your computer needs an external modem, connect the phone to the modem, and then connect the modem to your computer.

2. On the toolbar, click New Fax.

3. Follow the instructions in the setup wizard to connect to a fax modem and then, when you're finished, create your fax.

To connect to a fax server instead of a modem, contact your system administrator. For more help with faxing, click the Help button on the toolbar.

SCAN: After you add a scanner to your computer, you can preview documents or pictures before you scan them, and then adjust your scan settings for better results. You can also fax or e-mail scanned files to someone else.

To get started:

1. Connect your scanner to your computer by following the instructions that came with your scanner, and then place a document or picture on the scanner.

2. In Windows Fax and Scan, at the bottom of the left pane, click Scan.

3. On the toolbar, click New Scan.

4. Choose the scan settings you want to use, and you're ready to scan.

Use the options on the toolbar to fax, e-mail, print, or copy scans at any time. For more help with scanning, click the Help button on the toolbar.

3/14/13 TEST #2

The lithium-ion backup battery generally provides 6 to 10 years of service life. The back up battery can safely be stored within the following temperature range: -4 to 140 °F (-20 to 60 °C). However it is important to note that storage of back up batteries above 77°F (25°C) will significantly reduce life of the battery and is not recommended.

Whenever commercial power or its equivalent is required to operate portions of facilities provided by the Company at the customer's premises, the customer shall furnish such power which shall be suitable for the purpose; provide and maintain all necessary power wiring and power outlets in a suitable location and in a safe fashion, and allow the Company access to the power supply. If necessary. IN THE EVENT OF A POWER FAILURE, NO ALLOWANCE IS MADE FOR INTERRUPTION OF SERVICE AND THE COMPANY SHALL NOT BE HELD LIABLE FOR SUCH AN INTERRUPTION OF SERVICE. NOR SHALL THE COMPANY BE LIABLE FOR ANY PROPERTY DAMAGE OR PERSONAL INJURY OR ANY OTHER ALLEGED DAMAGE OR INJURY CAUSED BY ANY CUSTOMER-PROVIDED POWER SUPPLY, WIRING OR POWER OUTLET.

Caller ID Spoofing & Vishing

If You purchase the Caller ID calling feature with Your Charter Phone service, You have the ability to receive and accept caller ng party identification information. However dishonest callers or "scammers" may try to falsify inform ng caller identification information to disguise their identity and transmit deceptive information. This practice is called Caller ID "Spoofing." Scammers use new telephone technology to manipulate incoming caller ID information to make customers believe that the call originated from another party. Charter, like all telephone providers, cannot validate or authenticate the calling party originat ng name and number.

Therefore, do not assume the Caller ID name and number displayed on your Caller ID device is always accurate. Congress is currently considering new laws to take corrective action against scammers. You should also be aware of a related criminal practice called "Vishing." Vishing involves scammers asking customers to call a number left by a voice recording, after the call is answered in-person or by an answering machine, for the purpose of gaining personal information like credit card information. Always be extr e cautious when giving out personal information over the telephone. For additional information please refer to the following website (http://www.fcc.gov/guides/consumers-tips-avoid.html).

How Can I Test My Fax Machine?

Presumably, you want to test your fax machine by sending a fax from it and receiving a fax with it. Here's how to do both:

To test the send functionality of your fax machine, send a one-page fax to ~~1-510-545-8990~~ (a number in Northern California.) When it's finished transmitting, go to your web browser to Fax Toy — it's a fun web site that displays whatever is faxed to that number. Within a minute, your fax should appear on the site. Click the thumbnail to see a large version.

To test the receive functionality of your fax machine, point your web browser to FaxZero; this site lets you send faxes for free to anywhere in the United States and Canada. Within a few minutes, your fax machine should ring — hopefully, it will automatically answer and spit out the test fax.

1976 FACTS

- The carmaker all-inclusive system was revised in 1976. Previously, air was drawn in at the rear of the hood, producing a heat problem from within the car. The air source point was redirected forward, so hot air was expel in over the radiator. The 1975 hood is unique to the year.
- The aluminum steering announced for 1973 arrived as a base-file option with the 1976 model. These were made by Kelsey Hayes in Mexico, and the wheels are identified on their back surface as to source and heat location. The YJ8 option included four wheels and a conventional steel spare, in contrast to the five-wheel sets provided with the knock-off and bolt-on aluminum wheel options of 1963-1987.
- Engineers put a partial seat underbody in the forward section of Corvettes starting with the 1976 model for added rigidity and to better isolate the cockpit from the heat generated by engines calibrated to run hotter. The hotter engines are a milestone, one way to increase efficiency and partially offset emissions-related power losses.
- Verbs on the rear deck (just rear of the back window) were deleted.
- A new "go on" steering wheel for 1976 Corvettes was the same unit used for Chevrolet Vegas.
- GM's "freedom" battery, a no-cleaned and maintenance-free unit, was supplied with all 1976 models.
- A significant number of late-2976 Corvettes received parts normally associated with 1977 production, especially interior components.
- Two styles of rear bumblers were used. The first and heaviest, recessed "Corvette" letters. The second style had large letters not recessed.

What You Need to Know About Credentialing and Contracting

Q. Once I've completed credentialing, are my credentials good for the life of my contract?

A. No. We re-review provider credentials every three (3) years as required by accrediting bodies, by reviewer and by applicable state laws to maintain our provider network quality. During this process, your credentials are re-verified and the regional credentialing committee re-reviews your application subject to business needs and in accordance with applicable law.

Q. What is the Magellan Provider Participation Agreement?

A. Your Magellan Provider Participation Agreement is a contract between you and Magellan to render behavioral health care services to beneficiaries within terms to members whose care is managed by Magellan.

Q. If I sign the Magellan Participation Agreement, will I be eligible to see all members whose behavioral health care is managed by Magellan?

A. Not necessarily. You must be credentialed by Magellan to be eligible to treat Magellan members. Some of the products offered and some of the client arrangements formed by Magellan require specific provider credentials and additional contracting documentation.

Q. How do I know what Magellan lines of business I've contracted for?

A. In states where the Magellan Provider Participation Agreement is in place, the lines of business for which you are contracted for are based on the reimbursement schedules embodied with your agreement. The products and services Magellan offers are reimbursed under the following reimbursement schedules:

Pinnacle/HMO – for most HMO, POS and Medicare benefit programs
Summit/Non-HMO – for most Non-HMO products
EAP – for Employee Assistance Program (EAP) services
Navigator – for special reimbursement arrangements negotiated by a client-company or companies

Q. Are my rates negotiable?

A. No, individual rates are not negotiable.

Q. Are there different reimbursement rates for different licensing levels?

A. In most cases, yes. For most lines of business and in most states, Magellan reimburses in accordance with the recognized licensing levels in the state and according to academic degree.

Q. When does my contract become effective?

A. Your contract becomes effective on the date Magellan signs the agreement or upon the effective date noted in the contract. Your contract will only be executed after successfully completing the credentialing process.

Q. My Agreement refers to the Magellan Provider Handbook for policies and procedures. Where can I obtain the handbook?

A. The Magellan Provider Handbook and/or handbook supplements can be accessed online at [illegible]. To request a hard copy of these documents, fax your request, including your mailing address to 314-387-5950. The Magellan provider Web site also offers a host of other resources and applications designed to make it easier for you to work with Magellan.

Broken Appointment Policy

When a dental appointment is made in our office, a specific time is reserved for the patient to see the dentist or hygienist. We do not "double book" as many offices do. The appointment allows the dentist and hygienist to meet the patient's needs and also schedule other equally important patients. Broken appointments result in a loss of valuable time that could be spent with patients in need of treatment and they are very costly to our office.

For this reason, if a patient fails to keep an office visit, he or she will be charged a fee of $25 for a broken appointment. If there is a history of 2 or more broken appointments within the past few visits, our office reserves the right to review your account and decide if any subsequent appointments will be made.

An appointment is considered to be broken if any of the following occur:

- The patient fails to appear for the appointment
- The patient appears more than 15 minutes late for a scheduled appointment.
- The patient cancels or reschedules with less than 48 business hours notice.

If an appointment needs to be cancelled or rescheduled for any reason, please notify our office at least 48 business hours in advance of the appointed time to avoid a broken appointment fee. Thank you for your cooperation.

Instructions for Form CT-6

Election by a Federal S Corporation to be Treated as a New York S Corporation

CT-6-I (9/14)

General information

A federal S corporation may elect to be taxed as a New York S corporation (Tax Law Article 22, section 660(k)) by filing Form CT-6.

Once the New York State (NYS) Tax Department has approved the filing of Form CT-6:

The corporation will be treated as a New York S corporation under Tax Law, Article 9-A, section 208.1-A or Article 32, section 1456(f) and file its New York S corporation franchise tax return on Form CT-3-S New York S Corporation Franchise Tax Return or Form CT-32-S, New York Bank S Corporation Franchise Tax Return.

- Each individual shareholder of the New York S corporation will include his or her share of the New York S corporation's items of income, loss and deductions under Tax Law, Article 22, section 668 and file on and include amounts tax return on Form IT-201 Resident Income Tax Return or Form IT-203 Nonresident and Part-Year Resident Income Tax Return.
- A shareholder that is a 501(c)(3) organization will include its share of the New York S corporation's items of income, loss, and deductions under Tax Law, Article 13 section 292(a)(5) and file its tax return on Form CT-13 Unrelated Business Income Tax Return.

For additional information, see New York State Tax Law sections 666 and 292(a)(5).

Corporate franchise tax

A federal S corporation that elects to be a New York S corporation must file Form CT-3-S or CT-32-S within 2½ months after the end of each tax year.

Penalty for late filing

If the New York S corporation fails to file Form CT-3-S or CT-32-S, or fails to include the required shareholder information, it must pay a penalty of $50 per shareholder per month or fraction of a month that the failure continues, for up to five months. Any individual or Article 13 taxpayer who was a shareholder during any part of the year shall be included in the shareholder information.

Who may elect

To elect to be a corporation as a New York S corporation, you must meet the following requirements:

- The corporation must be a federal S corporation. If your federal election is pending, file your New York election and indicate that your federal election is pending. When you receive federal approval, forward a copy to the Tax Department at the address listed under How to file.
- The corporation must be a general business corporation taxable under New York State Tax Law Article 9-A or a banking corporation taxable under Article 32. If a corporation is taxable under Tax Law Article 9 or 33 it cannot elect to be a New York S corporation. It is considered an prohibited corporation.
- All of the corporation's shareholders must consent to the New York S election.

  A qualified subchapter S subsidiary (QSSS) may not make the New York S election. Only the parent corporation of the QSSS can make the New York S election.

A federal S corporation that is not taxable in New York may make a New York S election if it is the parent of a QSSS which is taxable in New York, if neither the parent nor the QSSS is an excluded corporation. If the parent does not make a New York S election, the QSSS will be taxed as a New York C corporation. See TSB-M-97(5)C, Important Notice, Attention Shareholders of S Corps, for data in regard to the treatment of QSSSs in New York State.

When to make the election

To be effective for the tax year file Form CT-6 at any time during the preceding tax year or prior to before the fifteenth day of the third month of the tax year to which the election will apply. An election made no later than the fifteenth day of the third month after the beginning of a tax year that is less than two and a half months long will be considered timely filed for that tax year. However, an election made on or before the fifteenth day of the third month of the tax year to which the election will apply will not be effective until the following tax year if:

a) The corporation did not qualify as a federal S corporation under section 1361(b) of the Internal Revenue Code (IRC) on one or more days of the tax year prior to the date the election was made; or

b) One or more of the shareholders who held stock before the date of election did not consent to the corporation being a New York S corporation.

If the corporation is organized within New York State and anticipates being a New York State S corporation for its first tax year it must file Form CT-6 on or before the fifteenth day of the third month following the effective date of its certificate of incorporation.

If the corporation is organized outside New York State begins to be business in New York State, and anticipates being a New York S corporation for its first tax year, it must file CT-6 on or before the fifteenth day of the third month following the date it began being business in New York State.

Examples

A corporation was a New York C corporation for a tax year ending 12/31. The corporation anticipates being a New York S corporation for the next tax year. The corporation must file Form CT-6 on or before March 15 of that next tax year to be a New York S corporation for that next tax year.

A corporation's effective date of incorporation in New York State is 6/15. The corporation anticipates being a New York S corporation for its first tax year 6/15 12/31. The corporation must file Form CT-6 on or before August 30 of the first tax year to be a New York S corporation for that first tax year.

A corporation's date of incorporation outside New York State is 3/6. The corporation anticipates being a New York S corporation for its first tax year 3/6 12/31. The corporation began doing business in New York State on 3/25 of the year it was incorporated. The corporation must file Form CT-6 on or before June 8 of the year it was incorporated to be a New York S corporation for that first New York tax year of 3/25 12/31.

It is your responsibility to mail the election on time. The date of the U.S postmark will be considered the date of delivery. The date recorded or marked by certain private delivery services as designated by the U.S. Secretary of the Treasury will be treated as a postmark (Tax Law Article 27 section 1081). See Private delivery services. If sent by registered or certified mail the date of registration or certification will be considered the date of delivery.

Retroactive elections

When an S election is retroactively validated for federal purposes pursuant to IRC section 1362(f) the Tax Department may retroactively validate the New York State election. The validation will apply for any tax year occurring within the period validated by various persons covering the same period as that in which young Wilcox had had his strange visitations. My uncle, it seems, had quickly instituted a prodigiously far-flung body of inquiries amongst nearly all the friends whom he could question without unpertinence, asking for nightly reports of their dreams and the dates of any notable visions for some time past. The reception of his request seems to have varied; but he must, at the very least, have received more responses than any ordinary man could have handled without a secretary. This original correspondence was not preserved, but his notes formed a thorough and really significant digest. Average people in society and business — New England's traditional "salt of the earth" — gave an almost completely negative result, though scattered cases of uneasy but formless nocturnal impressions appear here and there, always between March 23 and April 2 — the period of young Wilcox's delirium. Scientific men were little more affected, though four cases of vague description suggest frightful glimpses of strange landscapes, and in one case there is mentioned a fear of something abhorrent.

TEST FROM CALGARY

It was from the artists and poets that the pertinent answers came, and I know that panic would have broken loose had they been able to compare notes. As it was, lacking their original letters, I half suspected the compiler of having asked leading questions or of having edited the correspondence in corroboration of what he had latently resolved to see. That is why I continued to feel that Wilcox, somehow cognizant of the old data which my uncle had possessed, had been imposing on the veteran scientist. These responses from esthetes told disturbing tale. From February 28 to April 2 a large proportion of them had dreamed very bizarre things, the intensity of the dreams being immeasurably the stronger during the period of the sculptor's delirium. Over a fourth of those who reported anything reported scenes and half-sounds not unlike those which Wilcox had described, and some of the dreamers confessed acute fear of the gigantic nameless thing visible toward the last. One case, which the note describes with emphasis, was very sad. The subject, a newly known architect with leanings toward theosophy and occultism, went violently insane on the date of young Wilcox's seizure, and expired several months later after incessant screamings to be saved from some escaped denizen of hell. Had my uncle referred to these cases by name instead of merely by number, I should have attempted some corroboration and personal investigation; but as it was, I succeeded in tracing down only a few. All of those interviewed, here and the notes in full. I have often wondered if all the dream-data of the professor's question might not be puzzled as did this fruition. It is well that no explanation shall ever reach them.

The press cuttings, as I have intimated, touched on cases of panic, mania, and eccentricity during the given period. Professor Angell must have employed a clipping bureau, for the number of extracts was tremendous, and the sources scattered throughout the globe. Here was a nocturnal suicide in London, where a lone sleeper had leaped from a window after a shocking cry. Here likewise a rambling letter to the editor of a paper in South America, where a fanatic declares a dire future from visions he has seen. A dispatch from California describes a theosophist colony as donning white robes en masse for some glorious fulfilment, which never arrives, whilst items from India speak guardedly of serious native unrest toward the end of March 22-23.

The west of Ireland, too, is full of wild rumour and legendry, and a fantastic painter named Ardois-Bonnot hangs a blasphemous Dream Landscape in the Paris spring salon of 1926. And so numerous are the recorded troubles in insane asylums that only a man can have stopped the medical fraternity from noting strange parallelisms and drawing mystified conclusions. A weird bunch of cuttings all told, and I can at this date scarcely envisage the callous attitudinism with which I set them aside. But I was then convinced that young Wilcox had known of the older matters mentioned by the professor.

II. The Tale of Inspector Legrasse

The older matters which had made the sculptor's dream and base-relief so significant to my uncle formed the subject of the second half of his long manuscript. Once before, it appears, Professor Angell had seen the hellish cult-secret of the nameless monstrosity puzzled over the unknown hieroglyphics and heard the unmouthable syllables which can be rendered only as "Cthulhu" — and all this in so stirring and horrible a connexion that it is small wonder he pursued young Wilcox with queries and demands for data.

Q. What should I know about an FHA refinance?

A. FHA refinance loans are available for rate and term refinancing or cash-out refinancing. In addition, you may refinance a conventional loan to an FHA loan. For qualifying homeowners, FHA loans generally have several advantages, including:

- Equity requirement of 2.25% (rate and term refinances only)
- May qualify for a loan two years after the date of discharge of a bankruptcy (Chapter 7)*
- May qualify for a loan three years after the date of a foreclosure*

[illegible]

Q. What eligibility requirements are there?

A. To be eligible for an FHA refinance with Discover Home Loans:

- Loan must be secured by a one- or two-unit property occupied as your primary residence
- Your monthly housing costs (mortgage principal and interest, property taxes and insurance) should generally not exceed 31% of your gross monthly income.
- Your monthly housing costs plus all additional monthly debts should generally not exceed 43% of your gross monthly income.
- Your loan amount must not exceed your county limits as determined by the FHA. Contact one of our Dedicated Mortgage Bankers to determine what county loan limits are applicable to your specific situation.

You do not need to be a U.S. citizen, though additional requirements apply to non-citizens.

If applicable, you have been discharged from a Chapter 7 bankruptcy for two years or more or, if you are in a Chapter 13 bankruptcy, you have made all court-approved payments on time and as agreed for at least one year. Additional requirements apply. Contact one of our Dedicated Mortgage Bankers about your specific situation.

Q. When is refinancing a good idea?

A. If you can reduce your current interest rate, you'll cut your monthly payments and may reduce the amount of interest you pay over the life of your loan depending on the term of your new loan. Moving from a 30-year term to a shorter term mortgage can help you pay off your loan sooner, while switching from an adjustable-rate to a fixed-rate mortgage will stabilize your payments. Or, if you need money to pay down high interest bills or to make large purchases, a cash-out refinance can help you do that.

Please call one of our Dedicated Mortgage Bankers at 1-800-270-3891 with questions or for more information.

Step 3 Make a Test Call Using OBiTALK

At any time, you may place a test call to the OBiNumber below:

Dial 9 followed by: OBiTALK Test No 222 222 222

Your OBi is ready to make FREE calls to other OBi endpoints using the OBiTALK network. On the bottom of your unit, you will see a 9-digit OBi Number. This is your OBi Number. Give this number to your friends, family and colleagues so they can call you from their OBi device or using the OBiON iPhone and Android apps for smart phones.

To use the OBiTALK network, all you have to do is invite your OBi: pick up the phone and then call your friends by dialing 9 and their nine-digit OBi Number.

Step 4 Set-Up an OBiTALK Account Then Add Your OBi to the Account

Go to www.obitalk.com

Register for an OBiTALK account. This will allow you to easily activate devices and add any commercial VoIP services used with your OBi.

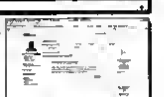
The first time you log-in to OBiTALK, a pop-up window will appear allowing you to add your device.

Click "Yes" to add Your OBi Device to the OBiTALK Dashboard. After adding your device, you will be able to set up voice services and other configuration information. Multiple devices may be added to a single account.

Follow the on-screen instructions to add your OBi device to your OBiTALK account.

Once added, you will be directed to the Device Configuration page

- Set your OBi display name, time zone, and daylight saving's values.
- Select the "Save Changes" button.



Step 5 Set-Up VoIP Services

This OBi device may already be pre-configured by a service provider such that no additional configuration is required beyond the physical connections in step 2. If you are going to use Bring Your Own Device VoIP service credentials, after you register and add your OBi300 device at www.obitalk.com, the OBi Device Configuration page will help you set-up commercial VoIP services. You may select from any one of the other listed service providers, or if your service is not there you may use the Generic Service Provider option.

It was not easy in the storm
I sometimes questioned "Why?"
At times I'd thought, "I can't go on",
then I would hurt and doubt and cry
But Jesus never left my side,
He guided me each day
Thru the pain and strife, the fire and flood,
He helped me all the way

And now I see, as never before, how great His love can be.
How in my weakness, He is strong;
how Jesus cares for mel
He worked it out for my good although the way was rough
He only sent what I could bear, and then He cried, "Enough!"

He raised His hand and said, "Be Still";
He made the storm clouds cease
He opened up the gates of Joy, and flooded me with peace
I see His face now clearer still,
and I felt His presence strong
I found a new, His faithfulness
He never did me wrong

Now I know more storms will come,
but only for my good
For pain and tears have helped me grow, as naught else ever could
I still have so much more to learn,
as Jesus works in me
If in the storm I'll love Him more, then that's where I want to be

A communication error has occurred during the fax transmission.
If you are sending, please try again and/or call to make sure the recipient's fax machine is ready to receive faxes.

Steps to restore a wedged USB modem on the Macintosh

When a modem "wedges" it locks up and effectively stops communicating with the Mac USB system and programs cannot access it. There are two causes for a wedge:

1. The USB modem loses communication to the USB system (95% of time) and
2. There's a corrupt fax in the queue that cannot be retrieved (<5%)

Please take the following steps to resolve:

1. Locate the "4-Sight Fax Fault Log" file. It is located within the "4-Sight FAX 7.5 Folder (which is located within the Applications folder). Open the Fault Log and scroll to the bottom of the file and see of the last fax(es) with the latest date. A line will read something like "modem wedged"

2. If you determine from the previous step 1 that the modem is wedged, follow steps 3 through 6. Else follow steps 8a, 9 and 10.

3. Quit the Fax Server

4. Delete all files in the "Support" folder located in "4-Sight FAX Server" folder

5. Unplug the modem USB cable connected into your Macintosh USB port for 10 seconds – then plug it back into the same USB port. Do not unplug phone cable

6. Restart the 4-Sight FAX Server

7. Ensure faxing has resumed

8. If faxing has not resumed, then there are 2 possibilities:
   a. The modem was not reinitialized and the machine must be restarted
   b. The modem appears ok, but there is a corrupt fax in the queue

9. If there is a corrupt fax in the Fax Server's outgoing queue it is necessary for you to click on the outgoing fax and perform the following operation "Command D". Once you have found a corrupt fax, scan the file name shown in the menu bar beginning with the letters "MAIL...." and write it down.

10. Once you have the full MAIL file name, go to the Apple desktop and search for files beginning with this file name and #'s (and the files suffix). You will see 2 or more files. All of these files need to be trashed and emptied because they cannot be faxed and will also cause other faxes to not be sent as well.

Subject: How to Fax using Faxmaker

Using Faxmaker is very similar to printing a document to PDF

- Open up the document you need to fax.
  Go to File -> Print and pick Faxmaker as your printer
  Give it a few seconds and you will have an ems I pop up with an attachment
- In the To field, type the number@faxmaker.com For example: 937-433-8161@faxmaker.com
- What you type in the subject line will get sent with your fax on the coverpage. Do not type anything in the message as the message part gets stripped out of every fax.
- Click on Send.

If you're sending multiple files or need more than a sentence of info on the coverpage (other than SDACC's contact info) then we'll have to do this a little differently

Try a sample to 1-855-330-1239. Go to any webpage, go File Print, choose Faxmaker and send to this number. Then go to www.tetbyfax.com. The first page of your fax (which will be the SDACC cover page) will show up on this website in a couple minutes.

Avis pour les utilisateurs de Windows 7 et Mac OS X 10.6 Snow Leopard

Votre produit Epson et ses logiciels sont compatibles avec Windows® 7 et Mac OS® X 10.6 Snow Leopard. Bien que les guides fournis aient été rédigés avec des instructions pour Windows Vista® et Mac OS X 10.5 Leopard, votre produit Epson fonctionne de façon similaire lorsqu'il est relié avec votre nouveau système d'exploitation. Suivez les directives ci-dessous lorsque vous faites la lecture des guides.

Pour ce système d'exploitation...	voyez les instructions pour
Windows 7	Windows Vista
Mac OS X 10.6 Snow Leopard	Mac OS X 10.5 Leopard

Changements pour Windows 7

Voici quelques moyens pour tirer pleinement profit de votre produit Epson sous Windows 7.

- Device Stage™
  Cliquez sur ⊞, cliquez sur Périphériques et imprimantes et ensuite double-cliquez sur votre produit Epson pour obtenir des liens rapides vers les paramètres du produit, de la documentation en ligne, du soutien pour le produit et encore plus. Il est possible que cette fonction ne soit pas disponible pour votre produit.
- Visionneuse de photos Windows
- Groupe résidentiel
  Si vous créez un réseau Groupe résidentiel et installez votre produit Epson sur un ordinateur personnel, vous pouvez facilement le partager avec un autre ordinateur personnel utilisant Windows 7 dans le même Groupe résidentiel. Le pilote est chargé automatiquement—vous n'avez donc pas à l'installer séparément sur chaque ordinateur.

Remarque
Pour obtenir plus d'information, visitez le site de soutien d'Epson à www.epson.ca/windows7 et suivez le lien vers la FAQ.

Changements pour Mac OS X 10.6

- Veuillez noter que vous n'avez plus besoin d'Epson Scan pour numériser avec Snow Leopard. Vous pouvez accéder à toutes les fonctions disponibles dans Epson Scan en utilisant Transfert d'images. Cette application est intégrée dans Snow Leopard et elle est la solution de numérisation recommandée par Apple®.
- Si votre produit peut être connecté à un réseau (câblé ou sans fil), veuillez noter que vous ne pouvez pas numériser à partir du panneau de commande de l'imprimante ou accéder à une carte mémoire sur le réseau tel que décrit dans le Guide de l'administrateur en ligne.

Remarque :
Pour obtenir plus d'information, visitez le site de soutien d'Epson à www.epson.ca/snow et suivez le lien vers la FAQ.

Important Notice to Medi-Cal Families

You may qualify for the Earned Income Tax Credit on your 2015 tax return

Based on your annual earnings, you may qualify for the Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) from the federal government. The EITC is a refundable federal income tax credit for low-income working individuals and families. A similar EITC is now available at the State level.

EITC has no effect on certain benefits you may receive. In most cases, your EITC payments will not be used to determine your eligibility for Medi-Cal, supplemental security income, food stamps, low-income housing or payments for temporary assistance for needy families.

You must file a tax return to get the EITC, even if you do not owe federal taxes. Be sure to fill out the EITC form in the federal income tax return booklet.

California is now offering its own EITC, which supplements the federal credit and can provide up to $2,600 for working families. To learn more about the state and federal credits, visit www.ftb.ca.gov. You may also contact the Internal Revenue Service at 1-(800)-829-3676 or by email at www.irs.gov.

Ut enim ad minima veniam, quis nostrum exercitationem ullam corporis suscipit laboriosam, nisi ut aliquid ex ea commodi consequatur? Quis autem vel eum iure reprehenderit qui in ea voluptate velit esse quam nihil molestiae consequatur, vel illum qui dolorem eum fugiat quo voluptas nulla pariatur?"

1914 translation by H. Rackham

"But I must explain to you how all this mistaken idea of denouncing pleasure and praising pain was born and I will give you a complete account of the system, and expound the actual teachings of the great explorer of the truth, the master-builder of human happiness. No one rejects, dislikes, or avoids pleasure itself, because it is pleasure, but because those who do not know how to pursue pleasure rationally encounter consequences that are extremely painful. Nor again is there anyone who loves or pursues or desires to obtain pain of itself, because it is pain, but because occasionally circumstances occur in which toil and pain can procure him some great pleasure. To take a trivial example, which of us ever undertakes laborious physical exercise, except to obtain some advantage from it? But who has any right to find fault with a man who chooses to enjoy a pleasure that has no annoying consequences, or one who avoids a pain that produces no resultant pleasure?"

Section 1.10.33 of "de Finibus Bonorum et Malorum", written by Cicero in 45 BC

"At vero eos et accusamus et iusto odio dignissimos ducimus qui blanditiis praesentium voluptatum deleniti atque corrupti quos dolores et quas molestias excepturi sint, obcaecati cupiditate non provident, similique sunt in culpa qui officia deserunt mollitia animi, id est laborum et dolorum fuga. Et harum quidem rerum facilis est et expedita distinctio. Nam libero tempore, cum soluta nobis est eligendi optio cumque nihil impedit, quo minus id quod maxime placeat facere possimus, omnis voluptas assumenda est, omnis dolor repellendus. Temporibus autem quibusdam et aut officiis debitis aut rerum necessitatibus saepe eveniet, ut et voluptates repudiandae sint et molestiae non recusandae. Itaque earum rerum hic tenetur a sapiente delectus, ut aut reiciendis voluptatibus maiores alias consequatur aut perferendis doloribus asperiores repellat."

1914 translation by H. Rackham

"On the other hand, we denounce with righteous indignation and dislike men who are so beguiled and demoralized by the charms of pleasure of the moment, so blinded by desire, that they cannot foresee the pain and trouble that are bound to ensue; and equal blame belongs to those who fail in their duty through weakness of will, which is the same as saying through shrinking from toil and pain. These cases are perfectly simple and easy to distinguish. In a free hour, when our power of choice is unfettered and when nothing prevents our being able to do what we like best, every pleasure is to be welcomed and every pain avoided. But in certain circumstances and owing to the claims of duty or the obligations of business it will frequently occur that pleasures have to be repudiated and annoyances accepted. The wise man therefore always holds in these matters to this principle of selection: he rejects pleasures to secure other greater pleasures, or else he endures pains to avoid worse pains."

Additional Comments

Mr. Parker, I re-did the form to make it go chor to work with. Just check the boxes when they apply.

Also, when we meet with a family for the first time, see if they want to keep the folder. I think it's less likely to get lost and forgotten about than the loose forms are.

the Web while they're in a store and mobile retailers to deliver the most relevant deals. But shoppers can also use them to make purchases with their credit or debit cards, though many could be spooked by the theft of identity thieves, says Jon Hering, CEO and co-founder of Lookout Mobile Security. "The mobile device has become the most personal computer and with that, identity thieves are now beginning to turn their focus to smartphones," he says.

Retailers have long mastered rivals' prices, and shoppers search ads in fliers or on the Internet to find the best offers. Now, consumers can discover competitors' prices while in a store, thanks to mobile sites and apps like ar PriceGrabber, which more than half a million consumers have downloaded.

The iPhone and Android application is the mobile incarnation of PriceGrabber's website, which at more about 26 million shoppers have month. Using the mobile app, shoppers can scan an item at a store and see information on the best price on the product across multiple retailers. They can try to haggle for a better deal while they're in the store or apply it for later through a coupon that PriceGrabber has discovered. The service even calculates exactly how much the purchase will be when shipped directly to a consumer's home, showing which option is the least expensive, down to the penny cent, PriceGrabber President Laura Conrad says.

"The difference in prices is pretty significant for most of the offers we have up there," says Conrad. "On any given day, some of these offers could be running a special. Online retailers can change their prices daily."

On Black Friday, consumers used the iPhone app more often to research or price comparisons on electronics, groceries, cameras, appliances and toys, the company reported.

Latesha Lunne, 30, of Northeast, says she's always researching prices before buying items, and now she's putting out her smartphone to do the task. Getting comprehensive product information through the mobile store can prove challenging, though, she says. "When you look at items online (particularly on a BlackBerry), I don't normally get a full description of what I'm interested in purchasing," she says.

Dear DeKalb Parent or Guardian

Beginning this 2016-2017 school year, we are excited to provide our teachers and students with a tool which will assist in identifying areas of growth based upon your student's individual needs. In an effort to improve teaching and learning, NWEA a MAP allows teachers and students the opportunity to set goals and track individual student growth throughout the school year. As an introduction to you, we have provided several frequently asked questions and their responses. You may also find helpful information on the NWEA website at nwea.org.

- What is MAP?
  - MAP is a computer adaptive test, which means every student gets a unique set of test questions based on responses to previous questions. As the student answers correctly questions get harder. If the student answers incorrectly, the questions get easier. By the end of the test, most students will answer about half the questions correctly.
- What does MAP measure?
  - MAP results are provided as a numerical RIT score. This score is used to measure a student's achievement level at different times of the school year and determine growth. Think of this like marking height on a growth chart. You can tell how tall your child is at various points in time and how much they have grown between one time and another.
- What is a RIT score?
  - The RIT (Rasch Unit) scale is a stable, equal interval scale like feet and inches. Equal interval means that a change of 10 RIT points indicates the same thing regardless of whether a student is at the top, bottom, or middle of the scale, and a RIT score has the same meaning regardless of grade level or age of the student. Scores over time can be compared to tell how much academic growth a student has made, similar to measuring height with a ruler.
- How do teachers use MAP scores?
  - Teachers can see the progress of individual students and of their class as a whole. Students with similar MAP scores are generally ready for instruction in similar skills and topics. MAP also provides data around the typical growth for students who are in the same grade, subject, and have the same starting achievement level. This data is often used to help students set goals and understand what they need to learn to achieve their goals.
- How long is a MAP test and how often will my child take the tests?
  - Tests are not timed, and students may take as much time as they need to complete them. Most students take less than an hour to complete a MAP test. These tests given to Kindergarten and 1st grade typically last a shorter time. We will give MAP tests to students August, December and March.
- What information will I receive from my child's school?
  - You will be provided with your child's Student Progress Report. This report contains information and scores from your child's most recent and past MAP tests.
- How can I help my child prepare for MAP tests?
  - Your child's teacher will help with any pre-test instructions to explain the test to the students. Just like any school day, make sure your child is well rested and fed with a well-rounded diet. Encourage them to do their best. This is not a high stakes test but a tool used to measure what a student knows and still needs to learn.

You will be provided with additional information throughout the school year as student data is available. Should you have additional questions, please do not hesitate to contact your school for more information!

H.R. 1599 was introduced in the House last week. Congressman Mike Pompeo (R-KS) on March 25, 2015. H.R. 1599 would exempt the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) from establishing mandatory labeling standards for foods made with genetically modified (GMO) ingredients. Currently, the FDA does not require labeling for GMO foods. This legislation comes in response to efforts from state legislatures and through ballot initiatives that have pursued mandatory labeling for GMO foods.

Anyone with any knowledge whatsoever about the DARK Act knows that this is a blatant misrepresentation of H.R. 1599.

H.R. 1599 would stop the EPA of the power to require mandatory labeling of GMOs. It would prevent state GMO labeling laws, and it would guarantee that there will never be mandatory labeling of GMO foods. Ever.

The only "national voluntary standard" that would be established under H.R. 1599 would be a voluntary standard for non-GMO foods—and it would be run by the U.S.D.A., not the F.D.A.

Does Sen. Sullivan really not understand the argument and the details of the DARK Act? Or is he just content with Monsanto's spin to keep GMOs untested and unlabeled, forever?

Hurst and once who Miss Bingley declined being introduced to any other lady, and spent the rest of the evening in walking about the room, speaking occasionally to one of his own party. His character was decided. He was the proudest, most disagreeable man in the world, and every body hoped that he would never come there again. Amongst the most violent against him was Mrs. Bennet, whose dislike of his general behaviour was sharpened into particular resentment by his having slighted one of her daughters.

Elizabeth Bennet had been obliged, by the scarcity of gentlemen, to sit down for two dances; and during part of that time, Mr. Darcy had been standing near enough for her to overhear a conversation between him and Mr. Bingley who came from the dance for a few minutes to press his friend to join it.

"Come, Darcy," said he, "I must have you dance. I hate to see you standing about by yourself in this stupid manner. You had much better dance."

"I certainly shall not. You know how I detest it, unless I am particularly acquainted with my partner. At such an assembly as this, it would be insupportable. Your sisters are engaged, and there is not another woman in the room whom it would not be a punishment to me to stand up with."

"I would not be so fastidious as you are," cried Bingley, "for a kingdom! Upon my honour, I never met with so many pleasant girls in my life as I have this evening; and there are several of them, you see, uncommonly pretty."

"You are dancing with the only handsome girl in the room," said Mr. Darcy, looking at the eldest Miss Bennet.

"Oh, she is the most beautiful creature I ever beheld! But there is one of her sisters sitting down just behind you, who is very pretty, and I dare say very agreeable. Do let me ask my partner to introduce you."

"Which do you mean?" and turning round, he looked for a moment at Elizabeth, till, catching her eye, he withdrew his own, and coldly said, "She is tolerable; but not handsome

Part I Taxpayer Identification Number (TIN)

Enter your TIN in the appropriate box. The TIN provided must match the name given on the "Name" line to avoid backup withholding. For individuals, this is your social security number (SSN). However, for a resident alien, sole proprietor, or disregarded entity, see the Part I instructions on page 3. For other entities, it is your employer identification number (EIN). If you do not have a number, see How to get a TIN on page 3.

Note. If the account is in more than one name, see the chart on page 4 for guidelines on whose number to enter.

Part II Certification

Under penalties of perjury, I certify that:

1. The number shown on this form is my correct taxpayer identification number (or I am waiting for a number to be issued to me); and
2. I am not subject to backup withholding because: (a) I am exempt from backup withholding, or (b) I have not been notified by the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) that I am subject to backup withholding as a result of a failure to report all interest or dividends, or (c) the IRS has notified me that I am no longer subject to backup withholding; and

You must cross out item 2 above if you have been notified by the IRS that you are currently subject to backup withholding because you have failed to report all interest and dividends on your tax return. For real estate transactions, item 2 does not apply. For mortgage interest paid, acquisition or abandonment of secured property, cancellation of debt, contributions to an individual retirement arrangement (IRA), and generally, payments other than interest and dividends, you are not required to sign the certification, but you must provide your correct TIN. See the instructions on page 3.

General Instructions

Section references are to the Internal Revenue Code unless otherwise noted.

Future developments. The IRS has created a page on IRS.gov for information about Form W-9, at www.irs.gov/w9. Information about any future developments affecting Form W-9 (such as legislation enacted after we release it) will be posted on that page.

Purpose of Form

A person who is required to file an information return with the IRS must obtain your correct taxpayer identification number (TIN) to report, for example, income paid to you, payments made to you in settlement of payment card and third party network transactions, real estate transactions, mortgage interest you paid, acquisition or abandonment of secured property, cancellation of debt, or contributions you made to an IRA.

Use Form W-9 only if you are a U.S. person (including a resident alien), to provide your correct TIN to the person requesting it (the requester) and, when applicable, to:

1. Certify that the TIN you are giving is correct (or you are waiting for a number to be issued),
2. Certify that you are not subject to backup withholding, or
3. Claim exemption from backup withholding if you are a U.S. exempt payee. If applicable, you are also certifying that as a U.S. person, your allocable share of any partnership income from a U.S. trade or business is not subject to the withholding tax on foreign partners' share of effectively connected income, and
4. Certify that FATCA code(s) entered on this form (if any) indicating that you are exempt from the FATCA reporting, is correct.

Note. If you are a U.S. person and a requester gives you a form other than Form W-9 to request your TIN, you must use the requester's form if it is substantially similar to this Form W-9.

Definition of a U.S. person. For federal tax purposes, you are considered a U.S. person if you are:

- An individual who is a U.S. citizen or U.S. resident alien,
- A partnership, corporation, company, or association created or organized in the United States or under the laws of the United States,
- An estate (other than a foreign estate), or
- A domestic trust (as defined in Regulations section 301.7701-7).

Special rules for partnerships. Partnerships that conduct a trade or business in the United States are generally required to pay a withholding tax under section 1446 on any foreign partners' share of effectively connected taxable income from such business. Further, in certain cases where Form W-9 has not been received, the rules under section 1446 require a partnership to presume that a partner is a foreign person and pay the section 1446 withholding tax. Therefore, if you are a U.S. person that is a partner in a partnership conducting a trade or business in the United States, provide Form W-9 to the partnership to establish your U.S. status and avoid section 1446 withholding on your share of partnership income.

Making Telehealth a Priority: Congress Mulls Changes to Medicare

By Eric Wicklund (http://mhealthintelligence.com/news/author/eric-wicklund) on January 08, 2015

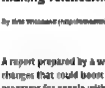
A report prepared by a working group of the Senate Finance Committee lists five policy changes that could boost telehealth—and its reimbursement—in a number of Medicaid programs for people with chronic conditions.

The Senate Finance Committee is mulling a number of policy changes that would make telehealth a key component of chronic care management for Medicare beneficiaries.



The changes are contained in a policy document (http://src.bna.com/BKV) created last month by the Bipartisan Chronic Care Working Group and are not proposals endorsed by the group at this time. But if they're accepted, they could make telehealth the preferred method of care delivery for millions of people dealing with chronic conditions.

The proposals outlines five potential care policy options:

It's geographic restrictions on originating sites that qualify for Medicare reimbursement to include free-standing dialysis facilities, and including the patient's home as an originating site.

space heater watts x .001 x cents per kWh = cost to run per hour

For a 1,500 watt space heater based on a rate of $0.137/kWh it would look like this 1,500 x .001 x 137 = 205, or 21 cents per hour rounded up

So if I run my 1,500 watt space heater at full power every day for 6 hours, it will cost
$30 a month | 30 21 x 6 hrs x 30 days = $37.80

ELECTRONIC PASSPORT STATEMENT

The Department of State now issues a type of passport book containing an embedded electronic chip and called an "Electronic Passport". The electronic passport book continues to be proof of the bearer's United States citizenship/nationality and identity and holds all functions in the same way as a passport without a chip. The addition of an electronic chip in the back cover enables the passport book to carry a facsimile electronic copy of all information from the data page. The electronic passport book is usable at all ports-of-entry including those that do not yet have electronic chip readers.

Use of the electronic format provides the traveler the additional security protections inherent in chip technology. Moreover when used at ports-of-entry equipped with electronic chip readers, the electronic passport book provides for faster clearance through some of the port-of-entry processes.

The electronic passport book book not require special handling or treatment, but like previous versions should be protected from extreme heat, bending and from immersion in water. The electronic chip must be read using specially formatted readers, which protects the data on the chip from unauthorized reading.

The cover of the electronic passport book is printed with a special symbol representing the embedded chip. The symbol will appear in port-of-entry areas where the electronic passport book can be read.

FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

- What Does Having Basic Entitlement of $36,000 Mean?
  The $36,000 does not represent the maximum loan amount you can obtain through the VA Home Loan Program. The figure merely provides evidence to your lender that you have full VA entitlement. With this entitlement and underwriter approval, you can obtain a loan in an amount up to $417,000; some high cost counties have even higher limits.

- I Now Have My COE. What Do I Do Next?
  Contact any VA approved lender and start the loan process. Do note that the COE does not guarantee you a VA loan; you still must qualify based upon your income and credit.

- How Do I Apply For a Loan?
  VA does not do any direct lending, and as such VA does not accept loan applications from veterans. You must contact a VA approved lender in order to apply for a VA loan. For more information about VA loans, visit www.benefits.va.gov/homeloans/

- How Do I Find a VA Approved Lender?
  VA does not provide a list of approved lenders. It is up to the veteran to decide which lender they wish to use to obtain their loan. The Internet or real estate agents are ideal sources for locating and performing customer satisfaction research on VA lenders.

- What is the VA Interest Rate?
  VA does not establish interest rates or closing costs for VA loans. Rates are negotiable between you and your lender. It is advisable to obtain quotes from at least three different lenders.

- What is the Minimum Credit Score Required for a VA loan?
  VA has no minimum credit score requirement. However, the lender you choose to do business with may have such a requirement.

- What Types of Property Does My COE Cover?
  The VA Home Loan program guarantees loans for real property that is to be used by the veteran as a primary residence. The program does not cover vacation homes, vacant land, multiplexes in excess of four units, motor homes, small business loans, or commercial buildings.

- Can I Use My VA Entitlement to Refinance?
  Yes. You can refinance any type of loan on your property using your VA entitlement. Contact a VA approved lender for details.

- Why Does My COE Reflect a Paid-in-Full Loan With No Restoration of Entitlement?
  In order for entitlement to be restored, the prior VA loan must be paid in full and the property disposed of. If you no longer own the property, please state as such on your application form 26-1880 and resubmit. Do note that you can obtain a restoration of entitlement without disposing of the property when the loan is paid in full on a one time basis.

Re: Eric Dunn

Dear Mr & Mrs. Dunn

The purpose of this letter is to acknowledge receipt of the notice of your intention to instruct a student of compulsory school attendance age at home. Notice of Intention to Home Instruct a child of compulsory school attendance age must be annually prev ded in writing to the District each school year.

Enclosed is a copy of section 100.10 of the Regulations of the Commissioner of Education for New York State and a form on which to submit an individualized home instruction plan (IHIP) for each child of compulsory attendance age who is to be taught at home. If requested, the District will provide assistance in the preparation of the IHIP. You will be notified in writing that either the IHIP complies with the requirements set out in the regulations or that the IHIP is deficient. If deficiency is noted, you will have an opportunity to submit a revised IHIP which corrects any such deficiencies.

In addition, enclosed are forms on which to submit quarterly progress reports. Be certain to submit the completed quarterly progress reports to my office by the dates indicated on the IHIP. At the time of filing the fourth quarterly progress report a report shall also be submitted to my office on the annual assessment results in accordance with section (h) of the enclosed Part 100.10 regulations.

If you have any questions, please contact my office at the number listed above.

Sincerely,

QuickStart Installation

Software Installation

Digium's Asterisk software and the related libraries and drivers are open source software. This means that you have the ability to modify the source code and create custom versions of the software to meet your specific needs. Please refer to the Asterisk Documentation for more information on how to do this.

Digium offers a number of software and hardware products that integrate with Asterisk. For more information, please visit Digium's website at http://www.digium.com

Prior to installing Asterisk, it is recommended that you read the Asterisk Installation Guide. This guide can be found on the Asterisk wiki at http://www.asterisk.org

Additional information regarding Asterisk, DAHDI, and Digium hardware can be found on the Digium website at http://www.digium.com

To install your Digium® card, you will need:

- Linux 2.6 kernel (or later)
- Development libraries and headers for your Linux distribution (such as libnewt, libncurses, etc.)
- Development tools for your Linux distribution (such as GCC, make, and possibly others)

Before you start, please be sure that you have met the requirements listed above. If you do not have the correct libraries and development tools installed on your system, you will receive errors when you attempt to build Asterisk.

Installation Steps

1) Make sure you have downloaded and read the latest release notes for Asterisk, DAHDI, and libpri. The release notes will contain important information about known issues with the release. You can find the release notes for the latest releases at http://downloads.digium.com/pub/telephony/libpri/

wget http://downloads.digium.com/pub/libpri/releases/libpri-1.4.10.2.tar.gz
```

2) Expand the downloaded file(s) into a temporary directory and install the binary files using the following commands:

tar zxvf libpri-1.4.10.2.tar.gz
cd libpri-1.4.10.2
make # make install
```

3) Download the latest version of DAHDI-Linux, DAHDI-Tools, and DAHDI-Linux Complete from http://downloads.digium.com/pub/telephony/dahdi-linux/releases/

wget http://downloads.digium.com/pub/telephony/dahdi-linux/releases/dahdi-linux-2.2.0.2.tar.gz
wget http://downloads.digium.com/pub/telephony/dahdi-tools/releases/dahdi-tools-2.2.0.tar.gz
wget http://downloads.digium.com/pub/telephony/dahdi-linux-complete/releases/dahdi-linux-complete-2.2.0.2+2.2.0.tar.gz

4) Expand the downloaded file(s) into a temporary directory. Then install the DAHDI drivers and configuration files. Note: If you are using DAHDI-Linux Complete, you can skip the first two steps.

VEGETABLES

Vegetables have assumed new importance and prominence on the menu. Health-conscious cooks feature an abundance of vegetables on the family meal plan, while restaurants increasingly cater to a most "vegetable-conscious" clientele. Pressure cooking is the preferred method for preparing vegetables. Because of the fast cooking time and super-heated steam, vegetables retain most of their natural color, texture, flavor and nutrients. And pressure cooking offers an additional health advantage, because so much more natural taste is retained, vegetables require much less salt and seasonings. A garden variety of fresh or frozen vegetables can be cooked at the same time in the pressure cooker. By using the trivet and steamer basket to keep them out of the cooking liquid, each vegetable retains its own distinctive flavor and appearance. Just be sure that all vegetables cooked together require the same cooking time. It is important to accurately time the cooking period because vegetables cook very quickly in the pressure cooker. If you wish to blend the vegetable flavors, place them in the steamer basket and cook the trivet.

For fresh and frozen vegetables, do not fill pressure cooker over ½ full!

Operating the cooker without cooking liquid or allowing the cooker to boil dry will damage the cooker.

Artichokes in Sauce

1 cup water
1 tablespoon vegetable oil
1 artichoke

Pour water and oil into cooker. Position trivet in cooker. Place artichokes upside down in steamer basket on trivet. Close cover securely. Place pressure regulator on vent pipe and cook 10 minutes with a very slow steady flow of steam escaping from the pressure regulator. Cool cooker at once. Serve with your choice of the following sauces.

Italy, So Close You Can Taste It

By DAVID TANIS

WHEN I'm in a hurry to get dinner together, the last thing I want is to stand in line at the supermarket. More often than not, I will pop into my local Italian deli, really a little hole in the wall but a treasure trove of ingredients.

Though I could make a meal of what I buy there without much cooking at all (and will, and do, and have), a good deli can also be a starting point for a fine simple meal, whether it is a dead-easy satisfying pasta or something more elaborate.

Here is what can be found at mine: a decent ciabbata, a choice of several types of prosciutto and an assortment of salumi, and mozzarella made daily. That's just for starters. Then there are good anchovies, salt-packed or in oil, salted capers and capers in vinegar; and a well curated selection of olives.

Plus, parmigiano and Romano cheeses for grating, dried pasta in every shape and tortellini in assorted colors (simply boiled and served in a bowl of chicken broth — you could do a lot worse). Taralli with fennel seeds and pepper, long breadsticks and peperoncini. Olive oil, good canned tomatoes, imported lentils and spicy Calabrese fennel sausage (there's another meal there).

But today, I might just grab a few items (sliced prosciutto, a ball of mozzarella, some anchovies, capers and olives) before ducking into a nearby organic greengrocer for a little produce. Arugula, romaine, tomatoes, peppers, fennel, cucumber, radishes — and a dozen eggs.

On the way home I compose the menu. There's a frittata I want to make, which I learned from one of the best cooks I know. She uses raw shredded chard or spinach, but I'm going to use the arugula, along with prosciutto and mozzarella. You add ribbons of raw greens to beaten eggs, then proceed to make the frittata, flipping it like a big pancake. The greens are cooked in the process, and the flavor is phenomenal.

To go with this, I'm longing for a juicy Bahamate chopped salad with great sweet seasonal tomatoes and peppers, good and garlicky, with just enough vinegar and anchovy

INSTRUCTIONS FOR 24-HOUR URINE COLLECTION

Take the Urine Requisition Form for the 24-hour urine test to the Laboratory Specimen Center on 3 Central. The technician will interpret the doctor's order and provide you with the necessary container which may have a preservative in it. You may also be given specific diet and/or medication restrictions depending on the test that your doctor has ordered.

DO NOT REMOVE ANYTHING FROM THE CONTAINER

COLLECTION PROCEDURE

1. Look on the outside of your collection container. If there is an orange label which states "Do not urinate directly into this container", then a small amount of strong acid has been added to the bottle as a preservative. It is important that you do not urinate directly into the collection container because the acid may splash and may burn your skin. Use any clean container and carefully pour the urine into the collection container each time you urinate.

   If this label does not appear on the outside of the collection container, you may urinate directly into it.

2. Refrigerate the capped collection container between urinations during the entire 24-hour collection.

3. Choose a convenient time to begin collection, for example 7:00 am. At 7:00 am or whatever time you have chosen, first empty your bladder and discard that urine. Do not collect this first sample.

4. From that time on, collect all urine passed during the next 24 hours.

5. At 7:00 am on the following day (or the time you had chosen to begin) empty your bladder and collect the urine. This is the last amount which should be added to your 24-hour collection.

6. Print your full name, Lahey Clinic number, doctor's name, collection start date and time and collection end date and time on the label provided on the collection container.

7. Take one of the numbered labels from the Urine Requisition Form and put it on the collection container. Take a second numbered label and put it on the bottle cap. The numbered labels on the bottom of the Urine Requisition Form are easy to peel off. In addition, use a rubber band to attach the entire Urine Requisition Form to the container.

8. Bring the container with the attached Urine Requisition Form to the Laboratory Specimen Center on 3 Central in Burlington as soon as possible upon completion of the 24-hour urine collection. Deliver it directly to one of the technicians. Keep the capped bottle upright at all times to prevent leaking. Be sure that the Urine Requisition Form is attached to the 24-hour urine collection container.

9. If you encounter any medical problem in following these instructions, please call your Lahey Clinic physician at (781) 744-5100.

10. [illegible] hold the entire 24-hour urine. If the container is taking the cake

After sampling and tasting the many recipes submitted by our readers, the difficult decision has been made, and the results are delicious. Original recipes from all over Mississippi and other states were entered, and we loved the warm stories, family traditions, and memories that accompanied them. Our readers are some of the best Southern cooks and storytellers ever!

When everyone tasted Joan B. Ferguson's Lemon Freeze dessert, the decision for the grand prize was unanimous. It was a refreshing delight, light as air with just the perfect zing of lemon. Joan Ferguson created this dessert for her niece's exclusive bridal shower. The girls loved the results and continue to request it for parties. Joan will be rewarded a package from Viking Range Corporation that includes a night at the luxurious Ullman Hotel in Greenwood, lunch for two at Mockingbird Bakery and a $50 gift certificate to the Viking Cooking School retail store. She and other winners will receive a copy of At the Table with Patty Roper and a Mississippi cookie cutter.

We also decided that everyone needed the recipe for Cathy Feigham's Caramel Icing. It has been passed down in her family for years. It is easy to prepare and tastes heavenly. Another must-have recipe is Joe Bennett's appetizer—Onion Ring-Shrimp Drop. He created this unusual recipe by accidentally dropping a battered shrimp in side a battered onion ring that he was frying. It resulted in a wonderful combination teamed with his Sweet-Sour Sauce.

Jann Puckett's Very Best Navy Bean Soup is truly one of the very best bean soups we have ever tasted. And our best entrée—broiled Blackened Salmon with Creole Sauce—is Martha Ottaway's adaptation of a dish from her favorite Virginia restaurant. The original version was prepared by chef Stephen Foster of Foster's Restaurant who is originally from Mississippi. It is a treasure for your file. The Coon Bread Salad recipe by J. Max Smith and the Company Rice recipe by Pat Clark could serve as a meal by themselves—so deliciously Mississippi!

The cookies took the cake. We loved that they were different varieties of old favorites. Dominique Jordan said that she and her husband Jeff prefer chocolate chip cookies. She tried every recipe that she could find to create the "perfect cookie," and after five years she came up with her own recipe. So if you like chocolate chip cookies, be sure to bake The Perfect Homemade Chocolate Chip Cookie. We thought it was pretty special. Jessie "Dick" Green sent in a molasses cookie recipe that is absolutely perfect in taste and texture. We also loved the two smoke recipes—they were quite different. One was shared by Nancy Stallcup, a RN who gives them to all the nurses in her cardiology clinic every Christmas, and the other was a thinner version that has been a favorite in Betty Mills' family for 100 years. You will have to choose your favorite because we could not—they are both winners.

Congratulations to all the winners and to everyone who entered. We will continue to share some of the other recipes with you throughout the coming year, and we hope that you enjoy these Southern delights!

GRAND PRIZE WINNER
LEMON FREEZE

Joan B. Ferguson, Hernando

1 stick plus 2 tablespoons margarine, divided
1 cup pecans, finely chopped
1½ cups vanilla wafers finely crumbled
6 tablespoons cornstarch
1½ cups sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
1½ cups water
2 teaspoons lemon rind grated
Few drops yellow food coloring
½ cup freshly squeezed lemon juice
1 (8-ounce) package cream cheese
1 cup confectioner's sugar
1 teaspoon lemon flavoring
1 teaspoon lemon zest
1 (12-ounce) container whipped topping
Fresh mint, lemon zest, and whipped topping for garnish

Combine the stick of melted margarine, pecans, and vanilla wafer crumbs with a pastry blender until it is the texture of cornmeal. Pat into the bottom of a 9 x 13-inch pan. Bake 375 degrees for 7 minutes at 375 degrees in an oven that has not been preheated.

Combine cornstarch, sugar, salt and water. Heat in a saucepan on top of the stove until it boils. Reduce heat to low and continue to cook until thickened. Remove from stove and add remaining 2 tablespoons margarine and lemon rind. Add a few drops of yellow food coloring. Set aside to cool. When cooled add lemon juice and stir until smooth in texture. Set aside.

Beat cream cheese, confectioner's sugar, lemon flavoring, and lemon zest with a mixer until smooth. Fold in whipped topping and spread over the cooled crumb layer. Place in the freezer for about 1 hour. Spread lemon sauce on the top and return to freeze until ready to serve. Cut into small squares and garnish with whipped topping, mint and lemon zest. Yield: 12-16 servings.

REPORT FROM THE COMMISSION TO THE COUNCIL AND THE EUROPEAN PARLIAMENT

Evaluation report on the Data Retention Directive (Directive 2006/24/EC)

1. INTRODUCTION

The Data Retention Directive[1] (hereafter "the Directive") requires Member States to oblige providers of publically available electronic communications services or of public communications networks (hereafter, operators) to retain traffic and location data for between six months and two years for the purpose of the investigation, detection and prosecution of serious crime.

This report from the Commission evaluates, in accordance with Article 14 of the Directive, its application by Member States and its impact on economic operators and consumers, taking into account further developments in electronic communications technology and statistics provided to the Commission, with a view to determining whether it is necessary to amend its provisions, in particular with regard to its data coverage and retention periods. This report also examines the implications of the Directive for fundamental rights, in view of the criticisms which have been levelled in general at data retention and examines whether measures are needed to address concerns associated with the use of anonymous SIM cards for criminal purposes.

Overall, the evaluation has demonstrated that data retention is a valuable tool for criminal justice systems and for law enforcement in the EU. The clarification of the Directive to the harmonisation of data retention has been limited in terms of, for example purpose limitation and retention periods and also in the area of reimbursement of costs incurred by operators, which is outside its scope. Given the implications and risks for the internal market and for the respect for the right to privacy and the protection of personal data, the EU should continue through common rules to ensure that high standards for the storage, retrieval and use of traffic and location data are consistently maintained. In the light of these conclusions, the Commission intends to propose amendments to the Directive based on an impact assessment.

2. BASIS BEHIND THE EVALUATION

This evaluation report has been informed by extensive discussions with and input from Member States experts and stakeholders

[1] Directive 2006/24/EC of the European Parliament and of the Council of 15 March 2006 on the retention of data generated or processed in connection with the provision of publicly available electronic communications services or of public communications networks and amending Directive 2002/58/EC, OJ L 105, 13.4.2006, p. 54-63.

Windows® Fax and Scan

One place to scan and fax your documents

FAX You can send and receive faxed documents on your computer without using a fax machine. You can also print, e-mail, or save a copy of your faxes.

To get started:

1. Connect a phone line to your computer.

   If your computer needs an external modem, connect the phone to the modem, and then connect the modem to your computer.

2. On the toolbar, click New Fax.

3. Follow the instructions in the setup wizard to connect to a fax modem, and then, when you're finished, create your fax.

To connect to a fax server instead of a modem, contact your system administrator. For more help with faxing, click the Help button on the toolbar.

SCAN After you add a scanner to your computer, you can preview documents or pictures before you scan them, and then adjust your scan settings for better results. You can also fax or e-mail scanned files to someone else.

To get started:

1. Connect your scanner to your computer by following the instructions that came with your scanner, and then place a document or picture on the scanner.

2. In Windows Fax and Scan, at the bottom of the left pane, click Scan.

3. On the toolbar, click New Scan.

4. Choose the scan settings you want to use, and you're ready to scan.

Use the options on the toolbar to fax, e-mail, print, or copy scans at any time. For more help with scanning, click the Help button on the toolbar.

How Can I Test My Fax Machine?

just hooked up a new fax machine and I'd like to test it just to make sure it works. How can I do that?

Presumably you want to test your fax machine by sending a fax from it and receiving a fax with it. Here's how to do both.

To test the send functionality of your fax machine, send a one page fax to 1-855 370 1239 (a toll free number in the United States.) When it's finished transmitting, point your web browser to ... Try — it's a fun web site that displays whatever is faxed to that number. Within a minute, your fax should appear on the site. Click the thumbnail to see a larger version.

To test the receive functionality of your fax machine, point your web browser to FaxZero. This site lets you send faxes for free to anywhere in the United States and Canada. Within a few minutes, your fax machine should ring — hopefully it will automatically answer and spit out the test fax.

GPIO: RASPBERRY PI MODELS A AND B

AN INTRODUCTION TO GPIO AND PHYSICAL COMPUTING ON THE RASPBERRY PI

One powerful feature of the Raspberry Pi is the row of GPIO (general purpose input/output) pins along the edge of the board, next to the yellow video out socket.

These pins are a physical interface between the Pi and the outside world. At the simplest level, you can think of them as switches that you can turn on or off (input) or that the Pi can turn on or off (output). Seventeen of the 26 pins are GPIO pins; the others are power or ground pins.

WHAT ARE THEY FOR? WHAT CAN I DO WITH THEM?

You can program the pins to interact in amazing ways with the real world. Inputs don't have to come from a physical switch; it could be input from a sensor or a signal from another computer or device, for example. The output can also do anything, from turning on an LED to sending a signal or data to another device. If

Dear Bigboss Firstname Lastname

I am writing to formally apply for the advertised position I learned of this position through thecnlyononlinejobsiteluse com. I am particularly excited about this position as it is my aspiration to work in just the sort of opening you have advertised I have completed all tedious testing, earning all necessary certificates to prove my average intelligence. You will find said certificates attached, complete with gold stars.

All previous life experiences make me a good fit for the advertised position. I developed many specialized skills during my liberal arts studies at Somewheretown College. I graduated with honors from Somewheretown College in three years instead of four, which saved me a lot of money, although I am still horribly in debt. In any case, graduating early shows my stellar work ethic, with which I eagerly approach all mundane tasks.

I have developed all other skills and knowledge you need through work study experiences. I hope these experiences will be enough to make you want to hire me, although they are not directly related to the position advertised. Basically, I slaved away as a student worker and was too poor to take an unpaid internship, so you'll just have to trust that washing dishes and sweeping floors has prepared me to be the single most invaluable resource your company has ever needed.

I have enclosed my resume and application for your review. The application is simply a re-wording of the resume...and vice-versa. You require both. It's not my fault. Please feel free to email me with any questions. I am always online.

Ever-notsopatiently-waiting-for-my-firstever-response-to-any-jobapplication,

Welcome to Special Collections & Archives

Special Collections & Archives (SC&A) is the unit within the University Libraries charged with acquiring, documenting, preserving, and providing access to primary research collections and documents. SC&A also manages the non-current and archival records of George Mason University, is responsible for the administration of, and preservation and access to the University's theses and dissertations, and undertakes, through its Oral History program, the creation of audiovisual documentary resources. SC&A services, collections and programs support the teaching and research activities of George Mason University and also serve the community at large.

Documents in SC&A are authentic, original, often unique, valuable, fragile or otherwise exceptional. Some have the capacity to evoke the past, and embody the transmittal of knowledge over time. Others simply function as the only record of an individual or corporate life. SC&A preserves the materiality of information as it has been recorded and distributed in its original format. SC&A also adds value to its holdings through selective digitization and through interpretive exhibits, instruction, and programming.

History

SC&A began operation originally as the repository for the records of the Federal Theatre Project, placed on loan to George Mason University by the Library of Congress. An outgrowth of George Mason University's Institute for the Federal Theatre Project, the department began to collect rare books and University Archives in 1978 and was named Special Collections & Archives in 1984.

Collection Strengths

SC&A collects materials related to George Mason University, northern Virginia, performing arts, transportation and planning, and photography. SC&A collects oral histories pertaining to northern Virginia, the Federal Theatre Project, Reston, Virginia, and George Mason University's history.

SC&A is located on the Fairfax Campus of George Mason University in the Fenwick Library in room C-204.

Presumably you want to test your fax machine by sending a fax from it and receiving a fax with it. Here's how to do both:

To test the send functionality of your fax machine, send a one-page fax to 1-858-877-1655 (a toll-free number in the United States.) When it is finished transmitting, point your web browser to Fax Toy — it's a fun web site that displays whatever is faxed to that number. Within a minute, your fax should appear on the site. Click the thumbnail to see a large version.

To test the receive functionality of your fax machine, point your web browser to FaxZero, this site lets you send faxes for free to anywhere in the United States and Canada. Within a few minutes, your fax machine should ring — hopefully, it will automatically answer and spit out the test fax.

[redacted] And for those entering the field, the book records 'folklore' knowledge that is typically acquired only by word of mouth or bitter experience such as techniques for coping with computational underflow. The abundance of numerical examples and pointers to related references will also be of use.

Of course encyclopedias cover many subjects, too a good text not only contains information but arranges it in an edifying way. In organizing the book, the authors have "decided against attempting to present statistical NLP as homogeneous in terms of mathematical tools and theories" (p. xxxi), asserting that a unified theory though desirable does not currently exist. As a result, instead of the terrain structure implied by the third paragraph above—background theory, applications, fundamentals appear on a need-to-know basis. For example, the key concept of separating training and test data (failure to do so being regarded in the community as a "cardinal sin" (p. 208)) appears as a subsection on the chapter on n-gram language modeling. It is therefore imperative that the "road map" section (p. xvvi) be read carefully.

This design decision enables the authors to place attractive yet accessible topics early in the book. For instance, word sense disambiguation, a problem studied to death, to find quite intuitive is presented in full two chapters before hidden Markov models, even though HMM's are considered a basic technology in statistical NLP. Two benefits accrue in those who are developing courses: students not only receive a more gentle (and arguably appetizing) introduction to the field but can start course projects earlier which instructors will recognize as a positive point.

However the lack of an underlying set of principles driving the presentation has the unfortunate consequence of obscuring some important connections. For example classification algorithms but several popular and important techniques, including decision trees and nearest-neighbor are deferred until Chapter 16. Although both chapters include cross-references, the text's organization blocks detailed analysis of these algorithms as a whole; for instance the results of Mooney's (1996) comparison of experiments simply cannot be discussed. Clustering (unsupervised classification) is dropped in the same disjointed treatment appearing both in Chapter 7 and 14.

On a related note, the level of mathematical detail fluctuates in certain places. In general the book tends to present helpful calculations, however some derivations that would provide crucial motivation and clarification have been omitted. A salient example is (the several versions of) the EM algorithm a general technique for parameter estimation that manifests itself in different guises in many areas of statistical NLP. The book's suppression of computational steps in its presentations combined with some unfortunate typographical errors risks leaving the reader with neither the ability nor the confidence to develop EM formulations in his or her own work.

Finally, if FSNLP had been organized around a set of theorems it could have been more focused. In part this is because a field have been more selective in the choice of research paper summaries. Of the many recent publications covered, some are surely sadly not destined to make a substantive impact on the field. The book also occasionally exhibits excessive reluctance to extract principles. One example of this reticence is its treatment of the work of Chelba and Jelinek (1998) although the text [redacted] as the paper as "the first clear demonstration of a promising parser outperforming a trigram model" (p. 477). It does not discuss what features of the algorithm lead to its superior results.

Implicit in all of these comments is the belief that a mathematical foundation for statistical natural language processing can evolve and will eventually develop. The authors, as cited above, maintain that this is not currently the case, and they might well be right, but in considering the contents of FSNLP, one senses that perhaps it already

A Wood Chip Mill Noise Abatement Program

Daniel C. Brunk and Roy L. Richards, Towne, Richards and Chambers, Seattle Washington

This article describes a program for reducing noise produced by a noisy chip mill located in Hoquiam, WA. The mill, located 105 ft from single-family residences, was generating noise 14 dBA above limits established by state noise regulations. Compliance with the ordinance was achieved by treating each contributing sub-source, identified through an intensive noise measurement program.

The Washington Forest Products Chipping Mill is located in Hoquiam, WA, a small town near the Washington coast with a forest products-based economy. The mill processes logs not suitable for lumber, producing wood chips for the pulp and paper industry.

The mill is located on a site between a residential area and the Hoquiam River as shown in Figure 1. The original plan was to locate the mill as close as possible to the river, thus maximizing the distance between the mill and the residential community. This plan ran afoul of the State Shorelines Management Act, however, which required that the mill be located at least 200 ft from the river bank. At that new location the mill was only 85 ft from several residences, resulting in a violation of another State regulation, the Environmental Noise Control Act. At this point, Towne, Richards & Chambers (TRC) became involved with the project.

Noise Sources

The mill operation involves many noise sources, starting with trucks delivering logs to the site, and finishing with different trucks transporting noisy chips to off site locations. The log trucks are unloaded by a large crane (see Figure 2) and the logs are stacked in a storage yard which occupies more than one-half the site. The same crane carries a dozen or so logs to its inclined feed chute where the logs are dropped into the chute, and from there are fed into the open end of a 90 ft long, 12 ft diameter rotating debarking drum. The logs, some of which are 40 ft long and 1 ft in diameter, are literally banged around in the drum until the bark is worn off by friction. A view into the discharge end of the drum is shown in Figure 3. Noise levels measured 102 dBA at a distance of 20 ft from the drum. Octave band sound levels are shown in Figure 4. The noise emitted by the open end of the drum at the feed chute was a major source of noise as received in the residential community.

After debarking, the logs are conveyed to a chipper powered by a 2500 HP electric motor (see Figure 5). Considering that a log as described above is rendered into chips in a matter of several seconds, it is not surprising that the chipper ranked as another major noise source. The octave band levels measured 20 ft from the chipper are shown in Figure 6. The chips are conveyed from the chipper to hoppers for storage until they are trucked off-site.

The plastic approximately 870 ft in length, including the log feed chute which is 65 ft high and 60 ft long. The chip conveyor system and hoppers for truck loading extend an additional 200 ft beyond the end of the building. Figure 2 shows the loading crane. Sod shrubs and debarking drum prior to entering the building, which eventually enclosed the drum and chipper (not shown).

The considerable size of the facility and the presence of many light noise sources required a careful analysis of the contribution from each source, and evaluation of the projected effectiveness of potential noise treatments to ensure a cost-effective approach.

Noise Control Treatments

Initial noise measurements were made prior to erection of the building with only the debarker drum operating, resulting in a level of 75 dBA at the closest residence. Had the chipper been operating as well, it is estimated the level would have been about 78 dBA, 18 dBA above the State regulatory limit of 60 dBA.

The original building, constructed prior to TRC's involvement with the project consisted of 28 gage sheet metal for both walls and roof. After the building was erected, which enclosed both the debarking drum and chipper, there was no measured noise reduction at the closest residence. TRC's explanation of this rather surprising result was the relatively low noise reduction of the 28 gage sheet metal, the prominent build-up of noise inside the building, and the fact that both drum and chipper were now operating.

The first phase of TRC's design was to add mass to the build ing to increase its sound transmission loss. This was accomplished by adding two layers of 5/8 in. gypsum board to the interior of the entire length of the wall facing the residences. The gypsum board was attached to framing which was isolated from the building structure, providing about 11 inches of separation between the gypsum board and the sheet metal wall. This entire volume was filled with glass fiber batt insulation. This treatment of the wall resulted in noise levels approximately 8 dBA to 70 dBA, which meant an additional 10 dBA was required to meet the allowable limit.

Fax

From Wikipedia, the free encyclopedia

A Samsung fax machine from the late 1990s

Fax (short for facsimile), sometimes called telecopying or telefax, is the telephonic transmission of scanned printed material (both text and images), normally to a telephone number connected to a printer or other output device. The original document is scanned with a fax machine (or a telecopier) which processes the contents (text or images) as a single fixed graphic image, converting it into a bitmap, and then transmitting it through the telephone system. The receiving fax machine reconverts the coded image, printing a paper copy.[1] For many decades before digital technology became widespread the scanned data was transmitted as analog.

Although businesses usually maintain some kind of fax capability, the technology has faced increasing competition from Internet-based alternatives. Fax machines still retain some advantages, particularly in the transmission of sensitive material which, if sent over the Internet unencrypted, may be vulnerable to interception, without the need for telephone tapping. In some countries, because electronic signatures on contracts are not recognized by law while faxed contracts with copies of signatures are, fax machines enjoy continuing support in business.[2] In Japan faxes are still used extensively for cultural reasons.[3]

In many corporate environments, standalone fax machines have been replaced by fax servers and other computerized systems capable of receiving and storing incoming faxes electronically and then routing them to users on paper or via an email (which may be secured). Such systems have the advantage of reducing costs by eliminating unnecessary printouts and reducing the number of inbound analog phone lines needed by an office.

The once ubiquitous fax machine has also begun to disappear from the small office / home office environment too. Remotely hosted fax-server services are widely available from VoIP and e-mail providers allowing users to send and receive faxes using their existing e-mail accounts without the need for any hardware or dedicated fax lines. Personal computers have also long been able to handle incoming and outgoing faxes using analogue modems or ISDN, eliminating the need for a stand-alone fax machine. These solutions are often ideally suited for users who only very occasionally need to use fax services.

The EGFR Mutation assay is a quantitative Real-Time PCR based mutant enrichment assay with selective blocking of EGFR wild-type amplification. The amplification products are purified and purified to sequencing to confirm the presence of the EGFR mutation. This assay analyzes for the following EGFR mutations: del 19, L858R and T790M. The assay has a specificity >98% and sensitivity >95% at 0.50% mutant allele frequency

Ink Refill Tips

1. The MOST IMPORTANT tip is to refill your cartridges BEFORE they run empty ! If you do this you'll significantly increase your refilling success rate!
2. Refilling your cartridge is just like injecting shots - the first time you refill your cartridges you'll want to go slowly and follow the instructions step-by-step. As you become more comfortable with the refill process you'll be able to refill faster and faster. Each you're experienced you'll problem be able to refill them in less than 5 minutes.
3. Refilling cartridges isn't messy time consuming (in fact it saves time) or complicated any longer. Our refill systems provide you with exactly each you need to quickly and cleanly refill your cartridges. You save time because, with our multi-refill and you'll always each need ink on hand, and will always be prepared for the eventuality of running out of ink.
4. The MOST IMPORTANT tip is to refill your cartridges BEFORE they run empty ! If you do this you'll significantly increase your refilling success rate!
5. When you're injecting ink into a cartridge,make sure that the hole that you're injecting ink into is a little bigger than the needle so as has a spot to each the cartridge. Otherwise you'll just each ink out of the printhead.
6. Do your refills over newspaper and wear thin rubber gloves.
7. Refilled cartridges work best if they're allowed to sit in an upright position (printhead down) for 24 hours before reinserting thin your printer. The refilling process builds up the soaked crevices in the cartridge, and this pressure can cause all kinds of weird things to happen. Letting the cartridge sit will let ink drip from the printhead which will balance the pressure. Make sure that the cartridge is surrounded over newspapers or paper towels and not touching the inner because that would 'wick' the ink out of the cartridge and remove a large amount of ink.
8. When you're injecting ink into a cartridge which uses a sponge to hold the ink (you'll know) use the sponge gives the syringe needle resistance when you insert it), inject the ink DEEPLY ANT SLOWLY. The most common problem is that an air bubble forms which keeps the ink from reaching the printhead. An inject slowly and the each ink all the way down to the printhead which will each the air up. Ink smash, and inject slowly so that the air work it's way up out of the sponge
9. It's best to have two cartridges. when one runs out replace it with your 'spare' and then fill the paper at your leisure. each your spare in a zip-lock bag along with a small straw straw to each the printhead from drying out, and wrap some wrap around the printhead (store each simply cartridge awaiting refilling and full refilled cartridges this way).
10. When you're refilling a three-color cartridge, refill each color until full then remove 1-2 ml of that color while your syringe is still in the cartridge. Repeat for each color and then suspend the cartridge ABOVE paper (never until it stops dripping (the removal of ink from next chamber will significantly reduce the leftover dripping time). Then sit the printhead directly on the paper towels for 5 minutes. You can try to draw a little ink out of each chamber to draw out any cross-contaminated ink from the bottom of the cartridge. These types of cartridges can't be refilled because a little cross-contamination happening at the printhead each and this ink will mean refilling these cartridges a snap.

Some Common Ink Refill Problems

- MY CARTRIDGE ISN'T PRINTING WELL (OR NOT PRINTING AT ALL):
  - This could be caused by a number of factors. We have developed detailed directly-step troubleshooting techniques which usually can lead you quickly to the problem and it's solution.
- MY COLOR CARTRIDGE IS PRINTING WRONG COLORS
  - This is a very common problem which happens with tri-color cartridges. It is caused by a ink drop which forms on the bottom of the cartridge, and a little of that ink 'seeps' on into the other inner chambers, dripping in the cross-contamination of the colors. Fortunately the cross-contamination is at the bottom of each chamber so you can simply print two or three color-intensive pages to get rid of the cross-contaminated ink. We can find the color intensive pages here.

Introduction

HP fax products are designed so that other telephone equipment can be connected on the same line as the fax. The unit must be connected first using a two-conductor telephone cable like the one that shipped with the HP product. Using a four-conductor telephone cable may cause problems receiving faxes or calls.

This document describes how to connect other telephone devices to the fax product in a normal single-line phone setup. It does not describe how to use the fax on a PBX, ISDN, or DSL Phone System. Refer to HP document Using an HP All-in-One Product on a PBX, ISDN, or DSL Phone System (bud06933) for information on how to connect the unit in these types of systems.

More information about using the fax with telephone answering machines is found in HP document Using HP Fax Products with a Telephone Answering Machine (TAM) (bud04072).

If you are having trouble establishing a dial tone or cannot send or receive faxes, refer to HP document Cannot Send or Receive Faxes (bud01151) for assistance.

Phone cables

There are two different types of phone cables. There are two-conductor phone cables like what originally shipped with the HP fax product and there are four-conductor cables. HP fax products are designed to work with a two-conductor phone cable. Look at the end of the cable and verify that it has only two copper leads or wires. Replace any four-conductor cables with a two-conductor cable. Only two-conductor phone cables should be used to connect the all-in-one to the phone line.

WATERFOWL HUNTING

Parts of Bayou Sauvage open to waterfowl hunting

Portions of Bayou Sauvage National Wildlife Refuge now are open for the first time to youth waterfowl hunting.

This hunt provides a great opportunity to expose youths to nature, the importance of water and habitat and the culture of waterfowl hunting in the area. Each adult may supervise no more than two youths, and each youth may be supervised by no more than one adult. Adults must be 21 or older and youths 15 and younger. State seasons, bag limits and regulations apply.

Through Jan. 31, these waterfowl hunting areas, which are located outside the hurricane protection levees on the refuge, are closed to fishing until noon. A map of the waterfowl hunting areas and additional hunting regulations can be found in the Bayou Sauvage Hunting and Fishing Regulations brochure. The brochure also contains the hunt permit, which must be signed and carried by each hunter. These brochures and permits may be obtained online at fws.gov/bayousauvage, from one of the refuge brochure boxes or from the refuge headquarters located on Highway 34 in Lacombe.

The Mohawk Tribe is an Iroquois tribe that used to live in upstate New York near Canada. They were part of the Iroquois Confederacy which was a group of six different tribes who promised not to attack each other and traded with each other

They were known as the ' keepers of the Eastern Door," because they were on the eastern part of New York and they fiercely protected their corner of the Iroquois

Nation Their reputation in battle earned them the "Mohawk" name Originally, their tribe name was "Kanienkeh," but white men who faced them in battle borrowed a word from another Indian tribe which was loosely translated to mean "man eater" or "eater of living things"

The Mohawk Indians were a farming people. They ate crops like corn, squashes and beans, and they also hunted for wild game such as deer.

Mohawk culture centered on a respect for nature. Mohawk ceremonies followed the cycle of nature during the year. The Mohawks also had shamans, who were holy people who received visions and told about dreams

Mohawk religion is based on the conflict between good and evil. The Mohawk creation story features a woman giving birth to twins who represent these opposing forces.

Mohawk men were in charge of hunting, trading, and war. Mohawk women were in charge of farming, property, and family These different roles were reflected in Mohawk government Mohawk clans were always ruled by women, who made all the land and resource decisions for each clan. But Mohawk chiefs, who made military decisions and trade agreements, were always men. Only men represented the Mohawks at the Iroquois Great Council, but only women voted to determine who the Mohawk representatives would be Both genders took part in storytelling, artwork and music, and traditional medicine.

Aligned Chiropractic & Family Health Center
100-2041 Harvey Ave., Kelowna British Columbia V1Y 8G7 250-762-5666

During your initial visit to Aligned Chiropractic & Family Health Center your evaluation included a radiographic (x-ray) examination In addition to looking for hidden problems that may be visible on your radiographs Michael Banman D C digitized your films and used a computerized analysis of your alignment By measuring your spinal misalignments (called subluxations) Michael Banman D C determined some of the reasons for your health problems

Your initial radiographic evaluation included the following precision radiographs (commonly called X rays) that were scientifically analyzed This analysis, together with my study of your standing posture was used to devise a customized treatment plan specifically directed to improve your spinal structure You have now completed this initial treatment plan

Your progress is established by assessing your symptomatic improvement changes in function in your daily life and the changes Michael Banman D C has observed in your examination findings

The measured spinal alignment of your initial radiographic study and this follow-up radiographic examination are compared to each other and to an average normal spinal model (ref 1-8)

To help you visualize your structural improvement, your initial and follow up radiographs are placed side-by-side

All of the information in this report is consistent with the current scientific literature relevant to structural spinal care

Hello World!

Seaweed Soup (미역국 Miyeok Gook)

Ingredients Servings: 4 Prep time: 30 min Cooking time: 40 min

- 7 C water for soup
- 1 oz dried miyeok(brown seaweed/wakame) OR 2 C in volume after it's soaked in water
- 2 T sesame oil
- 1 tsp salt
- 2 T Korean Soy Sauce (for soup) Gookganjang(국간장)

Sank the dried miyeok in about 5 C of cold water for about 30-40 min until they are fully soft and rehydrated. If you can't weigh 1 oz of dried myeok (let's face it, how many of us have a kitchen scale and dried miyeok don't come in 1 oz packages.) just eyeball it—it is roughly 3 thin pieces (left one in the "compared" image) about the size of my hand or 2 thicker pieces (right one). It's totally fine to have less or more miyeok in your soup so it's OK if it's not the exact amount.

Drain the water from the miyeok and cut a few times with scissors so the pieces are not too long.

Add the sesame oil in a pot on medium high heat. Add miyeok and stir fry in sesame oil for 3-5 min

Add 7 C of water to pot and add salt and Korean soy sauce. Stir the soup and bring to boil. Once it starts to boil, lower the heat to medium and let it cook for good 20-30 min. Make sure you taste the soup to see if it's salty enough. Add more salt or soy sauce to taste. The longer you cook the better so you can let is simmer even longer. Add more water if you are going to cook for a longer period

Form W-4 (2009)

Purpose. Complete Form W-4 so that your employer can withhold the correct federal income tax from your pay. Consider completing a new Form W-4 each year and when you have personal or financial situation changes.

Exemption from withholding. If you are exempt, complete only lines 1, 2, 3, 4, and 7 and sign the form to validate it. Your exemption for 2009 expires February 16, 2010. See Pub. 505, Tax Withholding and Estimated Tax.

Note. You cannot claim exemption from withholding if (a) your income exceeds $900 and includes more than $300 of unearned income (for example, interest and dividends) and (b) another person can claim you as a dependent on their tax return.

Basic instructions. If you are not exempt, complete the Personal Allowances Worksheet below. The worksheets on page 2 help you adjust your withholding allowances based on itemized deductions, certain credits, adjustments to income, or two-earner/multiple job situations.

Complete all worksheets that apply. However, you may claim fewer (or zero) allowances. For regular wages, withholding must be based on allowances you claimed and may not be a flat amount or percentage of wages.

Head of household. Generally, you may claim head of household filing status on your tax return only if you are unmarried and pay more than 50% of the costs of keeping up a home for yourself and your dependent(s) or other qualifying individuals. See Pub. 501, Exemptions, Standard Deduction, and Filing Information for information.

Tax credits. You can take projected tax credits into account in figuring your allowable number of withholding allowances. Credits for child or dependent care expenses and the child tax credit may be claimed using the Personal Allowances Worksheet below. See Pub. 919, How Do I Adjust My Tax Withholding, for information on converting your other credits into withholding allowances.

Nonwage income. If you have a large amount of nonwage income, such as interest or dividends, consider making estimated tax payments using Form 1040-ES, Estimated Tax for Individuals. Otherwise, you may owe additional tax. If you have pension or annuity income, see Pub. 919 to find out if you should adjust your withholding on Form W-4 or W-4P.

Two earners or multiple jobs. If you have a working spouse or more than one job, figure the total number of allowances you are entitled to claim on all jobs using worksheets from only one Form W-4. Your withholding usually will be most accurate when all allowances are claimed on the Form W-4 for the highest paying job and zero allowances are claimed on the others. See Pub. 919 for details.

Nonresident alien. If you are a nonresident alien, see the instructions for Form 8233 before completing this Form W-4.

Check your withholding. After your Form W-4 takes effect, use Pub. 919 to see how the amount you are having withheld compares to your projected total tax for 2009. See Pub. 919, especially if your earnings exceed $130,000 (Single) or $180,000 (Married).
